ABSOLUTE SURRENDER

Is Demanded by Gen. Carranza, Who Has Notified United States That He Will Engage in No Mediation With Huerta Delegates.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, July 13.—General Carranza formally notified the United States today that he would engage in no mediation whatever with the Huerta delegates and would accept only terms of absolute surrender.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, July 13.—Mexico City was looked to today as the place where the next big scene in the Mexican situation would be staged. With Huerta about to quit and turn over his affairs to his new foreign minister, Francisco Carbajal, hope was expressed that a way might be found peacefully to transfer the government to the constitutionalists and avert military conquest of the capital by their triumphant forces.

Carranza has announced his unwillingness to deal with Carbajal regarding him as the creation of Huerta. Nevertheless it has been suggested that parleys for the quick transition of power might take place if Carbajal appeared in the role of representative of a faction, rather than as provisional head of a government, which the constitutionalists refused to recognize. Carranza, it was declared, intended to follow the "plan of Guadalupe," which provides for military occupation of the capital. However, several European and South American nations, it was said, might frown on such a course. They regard with apprehension the possibility of fighting in Mexico City and forceful assumption of power without some previous guarantee to the populace. It has been strongly intimated that if Carranza, after Huerta's elimination, should insist upon his original program, disapproval would be manifested by several nations. They might refuse to recognize the constitutionalist leader unless he showed a disposition to give some quarter.

Indications were not lacking, however, that a way might be found for the transfer of power without much further fighting. The impression prevailed widely in Washington that hostilities in Mexico were near an end. It was suggested that if arrangements of peace were settled upon, Carranza could enter the capital with only a comparatively small force to help preserve order. The remainder of his armies would remain at the capital's gates or near their present headquarters to be content with the restoration of peace.

All hope of any parley between representatives of Huerta who took part in the Niagara proceedings and the constitutionalists upon the basis proposed by the South American envoys practically have been abandoned. Carranza has not formally replied to the mediators' proposals, but official messages from his headquarters at Saltillo have indicated what his reply would be. General Villa was reported to have received a message from Carranza, asserting offers of mediation by the South American envoys in Mexico's internal affairs would not be accepted. Carranza was quoted as saying the only thing he would accept was the surrender of Huerta and his army.

Huerta, it was believed, might quit Chapultepec some time this week. Automatically the new foreign minister, Francisco Carbajal, would assume the role of provisional president. Carbajal is a man of law. He is less than fifty years old. Of an academic temperament, he never has served in the army. He came into international prominence as the envoy of Diaz at the Juarez peace conference in 1911 after the Madero revolution.

Secretary of Labor Wilson Jumping Over Fence
at White House Grounds After Cabinet Meeting

William B. Wilson, secretary of labor in President Wilson's cabinet, is still a Democrat, as the photograph shows. Aristocrats don't jump fences of any kind to say nothing of the sacred one about the White House grounds.

Mr. Wilson had been to a cabinet meeting, and he was in a hurry to reach his office. He rushed to the gate from the grounds and found it closed. Of course, there were other gates and many of them were open. The secretary of labor might have run around to one of them as did the other members of the cabinet who found the gates closed. But why should he?

Mr. Wilson is an athlete despite his years. He doesn't play golf nor tennis, but he keeps himself in condition, and when the moment came to jump over the iron pickets from the White House grounds he did it with ease. Many another man might have ripped something as he went over, but the secretary of labor didn't; he was as light as a fawn and he dropped on his feet without a jar or a sound.

Record Convention
Of Rural Carriers
Ready For Opening

Delegates began arriving in Newark Monday afternoon for the largest state convention of rural letter carriers ever held in the United States. Sessions will open Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in the High school auditorium, to continue for three days.

Headquarters of state officers was established in Room 18, Hotel Warden, Monday morning. State Secretary R. E. Radcliffe of Kenton, O., was here early and, with officers of the county association began making final arrangements for accommodation of delegates, and working out details of the three days' meeting.

Governor James M. Cox and State Highway Commissioner Marker have accepted invitations to appear before the carriers in a public meeting at which they will discuss propositions of interest to carriers and patrons. The governor will speak here Tuesday afternoon. State Highway Commissioner Marker will be here to address the delegates during their session on Friday's day.

It is reported that is view of the recent action of the national postal department in granting an increase to carriers, the state convention will take no action looking toward any further increase at this time. The organization and the department are on excellent terms, according to state officers of the association, and nothing will be undertaken to spoil the harmony of these relations. "We are thoroughly in accord with this new administration," said State Secretary Radcliffe, Monday. "There is less friction between the department and the national and state associations under the present administration than ever before. The carriers feel that we would rather devote our efforts to improving efficiency of the service and trust to the reasonable attitude of congress and the postoffice department for our reward."

Columbus is getting in early with his bid for the next state convention and also the 1915 national association meeting. Toledo and Massillon also are after next year's state convention, it is reported.

In addition to the attendance of more than 200 delegates, between 300 and 400 visitors will be here by the time the opening session convenes. This will mark the largest attendance on record.

In past years the total attendance ran between 400 and 500, it is said. Ohio has always headed all states in the number of delegates represented in the national convention. Last year Indiana made a close race, but Ohio won out by twenty delegates. This year another hot contest for supremacy is predicted.

The Ohio association last year sent fourteen regular delegates and one at large, giving the state association fifteen votes. This year the Ohio delegation will have about twenty votes in the national convention. R. H. Nichols, Licking county association secretary, is understood to be a receptive candidate for national delegate this year. Nichols has given the association good service, and is said to stand a good chance of winning one of the coveted places. There will be many candidates for national delegate this year on account of the big increase in membership. Washington, D. C. gets this year's national convention.

State officers say the membership has almost doubled itself during the past year. This is the second year of the presidency of P. J. Powers, of Gibsonburg, O., and the gain will be between $90 and 1,000 members. The state association had 1,600 members when Powers took office.

With 32 counties to hear from, Monday afternoon, Secretary Radcliffe reported 1,204 paid up members, the largest pre-convention report ever made, he said. This is Radcliffe's first year as secretary of the state association, to which office he was advanced from the post of state organizer.

State Treasurer P. J. Parker, of Bainbridge, O., has been one of the leading lights in the work of the official board toward making the annual growth, it is said, association experience such phenomena. Among the prominent characters in rural letter carrier circles to be present will be W. D. Brown of Washington, D. C., editor of "R. F. D. News," the official organ of the rural carriers' association. Editor Brown is known as the "man on the Washington job" for the association, and is accredited with responsibility for many favorable considerations in behalf of the carriers, from the postoffice department, with which he is said to be in close touch.

J. E. Cameron, national treasurer of Upper Sandusky, O., has signified his intention of attending the sessions here.

INGALLS FUNERAL WILL OCCUR TODAY
AT CINCINNATI, O.

Cincinnati, July 13.—The funeral of Melville E. Ingalls, financier and railroad man, who died Saturday at his summer home at Hot Springs, Va., will take place here today. The body will arrive on a special train earlier in the day. It was accompanied by members of the family and several friends. Services will be held at the Unitarian church, being conducted by its pastor, Rev. George A. Thayer. The pallbearers will be: Charles P. Taft, Judge John W. Warrington, Harry Gest, Arthur Stiem, Frank Whorow, Judson Harmon, E. F. Osborne, J. V. B. Scherbrooke, W. W. Brown, Joseph Wilby, William Washington and C. E. Holmes; all of this city; and George Stimson of Los Angeles, Cal.

MEETING

Held in Open Air By Ulster Orangemen Sunday Afternoon

MILITARY IN RESERVE

At Barracks in Case Rival Faction Came Into Conflict—5,000 Men in Line to Celebrate Anniversary of Battle of the Boyne.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Belfast, Ireland, July 13.—The insistent demand of the protestant portion of the province of Ulster for exclusion from the operations of the Irish home rule bill lent added interest to today's celebration of the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne. The celebration was carried out here with great enthusiasm.

Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, rode at the head of some 5,000 Orangemen, accompanied by the usual life and drum bands and including a sprinkling of brethren from the United States and British colonies. They marched through the city of Belfast to Drumahaire, where a great open air meeting was addressed by Sir Edward and other leaders.

The Nationalist quarter of Belfast was carefully avoided by the demonstrators and no occasion during the procession did the rival factions come into contact. So little did the authorities expect trouble that they depended entirely on the local police force to keep order, but all the military was confined to barracks as is usually the case during political demonstrations.

A crowd of tourists including many Americans, came to see the procession and to hear the speeches which were a prelude to resolutions calling on the Ulster leaders to take what steps they considered necessary to prevent Ulster coming from under the authority of the Dublin parliament.

Sir Edward Carson was the hero of the day. Buttons bearing his portrait were worn by nearly every man in the procession while great banners spread across the streets in the Unionist section of the city bore his likeness.

It is regarded as significant that in recent interviews he had given Sir Edward as saying that the only condition of peace is the exclusion of Ulster "for the present," while the more remote action of the unionists must in his opinion, depend upon the way the Dublin parliament treats protestants in the other provinces of Ireland.

Throughout the province of Ulster and notably in Londonderry extensive precautions were taken by the authorities to prevent possible clashes between the organized forces of the protestants and Catholics.

CELEBRATION HELD AT LONDONDERRY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Londonderry, Ireland, July 13.—The Orangemen here began the celebration of the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne with a cannonade during which they projected their explosive so that they burst over the residences in the Catholic section of the city.

The Nationalists believing the cannonading to be the prelude to aggressive action on the part of the Orangemen organized for defense, but up to noon no collision between the two parties had taken place.

While the Orangemen were attending church on Sunday and the police were busy guarding their processions the Nationalist volunteers succeeded in bringing into the city two automobile loads of rifles.

STRIKE ENDS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Pittsburg, July 13.—The strike in the Westinghouse factories was formally ended today when approximately 8,000 men and women returned to the shops. All plants were placed on full time, and all of the strikers taken back with the exception of two or three hundred whose places were filled by imported men during the strike. Half a dozen deputy sheriffs were on guard at the electric works but it was said the sheriff would recall them during the day.

Chicago, July 13.—Two grand jury investigations of the affairs of the defunct LaSalle Street Trust and Savings Bank were on here today. The state grand jury summoned Friday opened its inquiry into the insolvency of the bank and the federal grand jury called by Judge Landis directed its investigation into the conduct of the bank while it was a national institution before its liquidation and reorganization into a state bank.

VILLA SHIPS
BACK MONEY
TO CARRANZA

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
El Paso, Texas, July 13.—Five million dollars in constitutionalist currency and a freight car filled with stamping machines were delivered in Juarez, Mex., today by Villa agents to Alberto Pani, special representative of Carranza. The money and machinery were seized several weeks ago in Juarez by Villa's officials from Serafio Aguirre, treasurer general of the constitutionalists. Soldiers guarded the car and its contents after its arrival in Juarez last night from Chihuahua City. The currency will be shipped to Carranza headquarters.

JUSTICE LURTON
DIES SUDDENLY
SUNDAY MORNING

Atlantic City, July 13.—Associate Justice Horace Harmon Lurton of the United States Supreme court died suddenly at a hotel here Sunday last night from Chihuahua City. The currency will be shipped to Carranza headquarters.

The justice, who came here July 1, was in his usual health before leaving Saturday night and had taken his customary evening outing on the board walk. Shortly after midnight he complained of feeling ill, and although his physician, Dr. Ruffin, who arrived Saturday from Washington, was immediately summoned, Justice Lurton died at 5 o'clock Sunday morning. His wife and son, Horace H. Lurton, Jr., of Nashville, were at the bedside. Mrs. Horace Van Deventer, a daughter, and her husband, arrived last night from Knoxville, and other members of the family are expected today.

The body will be taken to Clarksville, Tenn., for interment, the funeral party leaving here at 2 o'clock this afternoon. It was at that city that Justice Lurton began the practice of law and lived for 20 years. Funeral services will be held there on Wednesday. Chief Justice White and several associate justices of the United States Supreme court, as well as many friends of the late associate justice from different parts of the country, are expected to be present.

Horace Harmon Lurton was born at Newport, Ky., in 1844. He was educated in the public schools, Douglass university and Cumberland university, and served three years in the Confederate army. He was appointed chancellor of the sixth chamber division of Tennessee by Gov. Porter in 1874, to fill a vacancy, and in 1876, he was elected, without opposition, to the same position. Later he was elected judge of the Supreme Court of Tennessee and in 1893 was chosen chief justice of that tribunal. He was appointed circuit judge for the sixth judicial district of the United States by President Cleveland the same year and was appointed by President Taft to be associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States Dec. 20, 1909.

PRES. WILSON MAY
NAME EX-PRES. TAFT
FOR THE VACANCY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, July 13.—Discussion as to whom President Wilson would appoint to fill the vacancy on the Supreme court bench caused by the death of Associate Justice Lurton continued here today. The names of those mentioned in connection with the vacancy include former President Taft, members of the cabinet and others.

In addition to Mr. Taft those mentioned include Attorney General McReynolds, Secretaries Lane and Garrison, United States Senator Shields of Tennessee, a former justice of the Supreme court of that state, Frederick W. Lehmann, former solicitor general of the American delegates to the Mexican peace conference at Niagara Falls and that of John W. Davis of West Virginia, the solicitor general.

Former President Taft is known to have had an ambition to round out his career as a justice on the highest court of the land. Whether he still cherishes that ambition is not known here.

Before the death of Justice Lurton, the Supreme court was made up of six Republicans and three Democrats. By his death the Democratic representation bench is reduced to two—Chief Justice White and Associate Justice Lamar. Under the circumstances, it is thought likely that the president will name a Democrat for the vacancy.

CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE

NEW HAVEN RAILROAD

Interstate Commerce Commission Reports to Senate One of the Most Glaring Instances of Mal-Administration Revealed in All the History of American Railroadings

STOCKHOLDERS LOSE $60,000,000 TO $90,000,000

Say Suits to Recover Should Begin in Some Cases—Many of the Transactions Characterized as Violations of the Laws of New York, Rhode Island and Massachusetts—Say Billard Burned Books and Papers and That He Was Not to Take More Than $2,000,000 of Profits for Maintaining Agency.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, July 13.—"Criminal negligence," and "one of the most glaring instances of mal-administration revealed in all the history of American railroadings," were the terms the interstate commerce commission employed today in reporting to the senate on its investigation of New Haven railroad financial affairs.

The commission's conclusions may be summed up this way: Losses to New Haven stockholders for the acts of their directors, will range from $60,000,000 to $90,000,000. Suits to recover the money should lie in some cases.

Many of the transactions, characterized violations of the laws of New York, Rhode Island and Massachusetts and the federal anti-trust laws have been reported to the authorities of the states and the federal department of justice.

The depreciation of the Boston & Maine began when the "Mellen-Morgan-Rockefeller management" came into control.

Company were merely agencies of the New Haven; Billard never used a dollar of his own money and burned his books and papers. It was not the understanding of the New Haven board that he should take profits of more than $2,000,000.

"All the assets of the Billard Co. belong to New Haven's stockholders and a suit by the railroad against Billard and those who participated in the transactions should be maintained."

Dummy corporations and their use which the report says in the New Haven was frequent, are condemned in unmeasured terms.

The system of interlocking directors is condemned as it existed on the New Haven and in general. The commission says it found most every other interest was better represented on the New Haven board than the average stockholders.

President Mellen's dealings with former police inspector Byrne of New York in the Westchester railroad transaction were branded as "corrupt and unlawful." The amount illegally expended should be recoverable.

The purchase of Rhode Island Trolley lines and coastwise steamships were described as extravagant and wasteful.

All the transactions, the commission holds, were consummated with the object of setting up a complete transportation monopoly in New England in violation of the federal statutes.

All the commission's strictures were upon the management of the New Haven system under former President Mellen.

In justice to the present management, the commission says it is but fair to say that Chairman Howard and Walker D. Hines, special counsel, "have co-operated with the commission and rendered it substantial assistance throughout this investigation."

who conducted no litigation to which the railroad was a party.

Extensive use of a paid lobby in the matters as to which directors claims to have no information; the attempt to control utterances of the press by subsidizing reporters; payment of money and profligate issues of free passes to legislators and their friends; the investment of $400,000 in securities of a New England newspaper; the regular employment of political bosses in Rhode Island and other states, not for the purpose of having them perform any service, but to prevent them, as Mr. Mellen expressed it, from "becoming active on the other side," the retention of John L. Billard of more than $2,700,000 in a transaction in which he represented the New Haven and into which he invested not a dollar; the inability of Oakleigh Thorne to account for $1,032,000 of the funds of the New Haven entrusted to him in carrying out the Westchester proposition; the story of Mr. Mellen as to the distribution of $1,200,000 for corrupt purposes in "bringing amendment of the Westchester and Port Chester franchises; the domination of all the affairs of this railroad by Mr. Morgan and Mr. Mellen and the absolute subordination of other members of the board of directors to the will of these two; the unwarranted increase of the New Haven liabilities from $93,000,000 in 1903 to $177,000,000 in 1913; the increase in floating notes from nothing in 1903 to approximately $40,000,000 in 1913; the indefensible absence of business ethics and the absence of financial acumen displayed by eminent financiers in directing the destinies in this railroad in its attempt to establish a monopoly of the transportation of New England; a combination of all these has resulted in the present deplorable situation in which the affairs of this railroad are involved.

From the facts developed in this investigation it would seem that there is little question concerning the recovery of a substantial amount of the stockholders' money that has been wasted. Several items of this nature briefly summarized: "Overpaid Perry and Thorne in commissions, $303,750. "Illegally spent in obtaining Westchester franchise changes, $1,524,972. "In the Billard transaction, $2,748,700.

"The money with which Billard acquired the 15,555 additional shares of common stock and 5,326 shares of preferred stock of the Boston & Maine railroad company was furnished by the New England Navigation company."

HAS NEW THEORY
IN THE BAILEY
MURDER CASE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Freeport, N. Y., July 13.—Investigation of the murder on June 30 of Dr. Edwin Bailey in the office of Dr. Edw. Smith has led Attorney General Smith to form a new theory which is in direct contradiction to that brought forward by Dr. Carman that the murderer had planned to kill him and not his patient.

A chart, which the district attorney has had prepared shows, he says, the identical positions occupied by Carman and Mrs. Bailey and shows that only the narrowest part of the physician's shoulders could have been visible to the slayer, while an almost unobstructed view of Mrs. Bailey was obtainable. The district attorney also declared that he was positively satisfied that the "shot was fired by a person who knew every inch, and intimately, of the inside of the room in which the killing occurred."

Dr. Carman asserted that he believed that the slayer of Mrs. Bailey intended to kill him, but because he was out of range of the revolver at the moment, he escaped. The grand jury will continue to sit this week, but an indictment, it is expected, charging Mrs. Carman with the crime, is not expected before the end of the week.

COSHOCTON DEFEATS C. M. A., 7 TO 5

Sunday afternoon the C. M. A. team was defeated by the fast Coshocton team by a 7 to 5 score. Although Coshocton were outthrew, they took advantage of Lipscomb's wildness, errors by Brown and Jones and Beene's wild throwing to bases. Winters' relief pitching featured.

Gillan was saved a number of times by fast fielding by Burnt and Cohn. Coshocton scored two in the first inning. Burnt flew to Nutter, Kline walked and stole. Cohn bunted and Lipscomb erred, McGiffen struck out. Cohn stole, Thompson hit in front of the plate and beat it out, both men scoring. Haight grounded out to Lavinsky. In the second after two were out, Cohn singled as did Burnt, both stole and Kline walked, Cohn doubled scoring both. In the third, McGiffen hit to Brown who threw over first. Thompson out, McGiffen going to third, Haight popped to Brown, McGiffen scored, Hartman whiffed. In the fifth, Cohn was out to Willey, McGiffen and Thompson walked, Haight singled, scoring both. The C. M. A. scored one in the third after two were out. Brown hit to first, who erred on the hit and run, Lavinsky flied to Haight who dropped the ball, Brown scoring. In the fourth they scored 2 after Nutter was out, Beene singled, Crawford tripled, scoring Beene, and he came home on an overthrow of third. In the ninth they scored two more. Nutter singled, Beene doubled, Crawford hit a line drive which Cohn knocked down and threw him out, Nutter scoring. Hughes struck out, but Thompson fumbled the third strike, Beene scoring. Winters hit to Gillan who doubled Hughes at second.

C. A. C. DEFEATED BY CROOKSVILLE

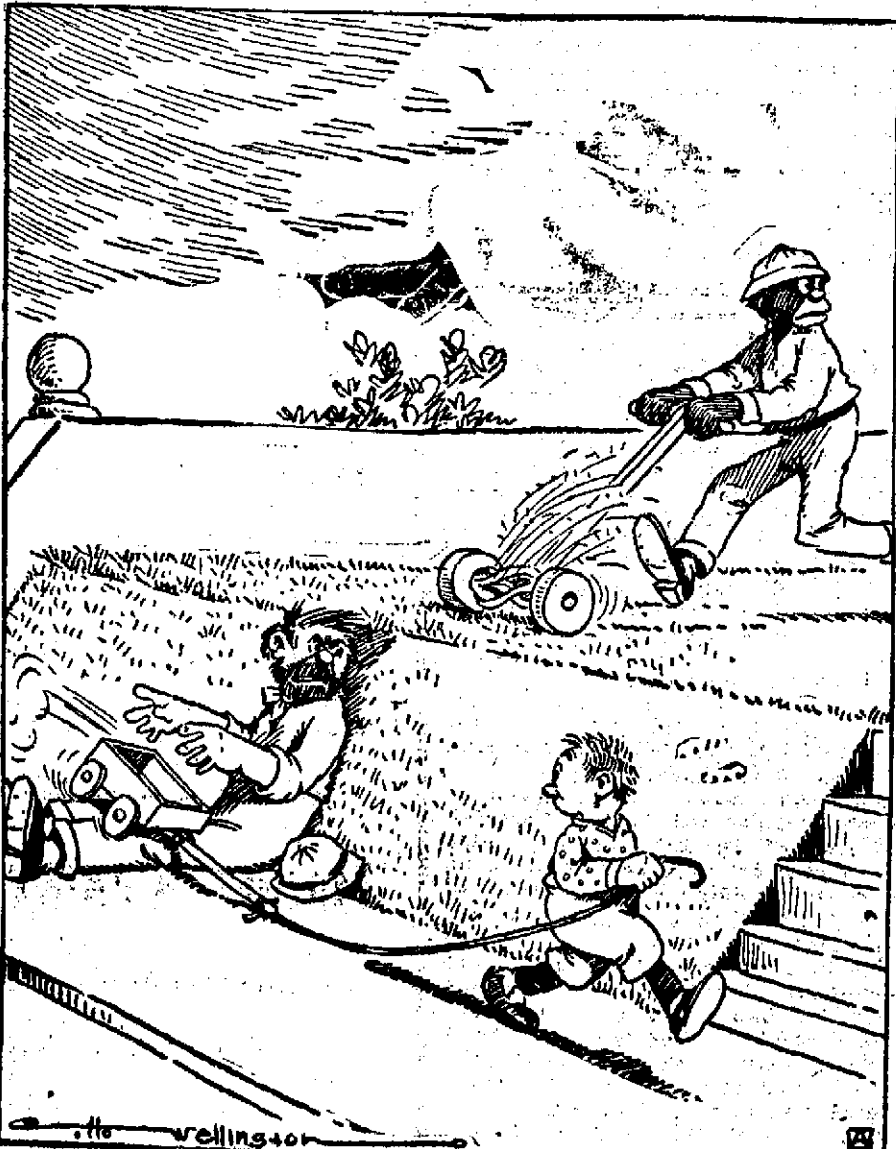

The C. A. C. were defeated at Crooksville Sunday in a fast and well played game. Each team played errorless ball. Nutter, star outfielder of the Charleston, Ohio, State League, played center field for Crooksville. Carpenter, C. A. C. pitcher, fanned him out of 5 trips to the plate. The features of the game were the pitching of Carpenter, who fanned 16 Crooksville batters, also pitching of Ordendorf, one hand stab of a grounder by Nehls, and the batting of Winters. Crooksville bunched their eight hits in three innings and scored six runs.

JOSEPH PORTER LIVES 90 YEARS BY NATIONAL PIKE

TELLS OF STAGE COACH DAYS AND DEFECTION OF THE HIGHWAY.

Is Greatly Interested in Seeing Famous Old Roadway Paved With Solid Concrete.

At the little hamlet of Coal Dale, a mile or two east of the Licking-Muskingum county line at Gratiot lives Joseph Porter, the "Patriarch of the National Pike." Mr. Porter is the father of Dr. Wm. D. Porter of Cincinnati, George and Samuel Porter of Muskingum county.

The Columbus Sunday Dispatch says there are few men in the country today who can boast of the strange life that Mr. Porter has enjoyed in being born, reared, and for all his entire earthly existence of over ninety years, living on or near the old historic highway. But this is not all. Continuing the Columbus Dispatch says: Joseph Porter witnessed the original construction of this grand old road, and he lives today to see the campaign started to rehabilitate it.

If Father Time will but act kindly with the aged Joseph Porter and spare his life for the summer of 1914, he will witness the actual work of paving the national pike in front of his old homestead with a solid body of concrete.

Despite the fact that Mr. Porter is over ninety years of age, and during the past winter has been confined to his home because of feebleness due to his old age, he feels that his strength will stay with him long enough to see the great work on the road that he loves so well. Joseph Porter is rightly entitled to the encomiums of praise that are showered upon him as the "Grand Old Man of Muskingum County."

He was a mere boy when the great army of workmen appeared with their pick-axes, their shovels and their teams of horses to make the national pike leading from Zanesville west to the setting sun. A lad of something over ten years was Mr. Porter when the government employes appeared near his father's estate and started out to hew a road in what was then a primeval forest, uncharted, unplatted, and to some extent, unknown. As a stripling of a boy, young Porter watched the men at work, and then, as the years went by, he saw the great highway in all its splendor affording the means of transportation for its army of travelers.

Joseph Porter at the age of 90, is a very interesting character. One stands about him with open-mouthed awe as he relates the real history of this highway as it afforded the only direct channel for the flow of commerce from the east to the west when life and the country were young.

"I was born in the old family homestead a quarter of a mile south of where the road now passes through Coal Dale," said Mr. Porter, and he pointed out the exact spot for his son now lives on the ground in a comfortable modern home. And then Mr. Porter continued to recite the romance. Here is what he tells, not in the exact words of the old patriarch, the story being boiled down, with some of the minute details, as Mr. Porter gives them, eliminated.

It was along about 1832 or 1833 that the road was built from Zanesville to Columbus, the contract having been let for the work in the latter part of June, 1832, the entire job being finished in 1833. Mr. Porter's recollection is that he saw the work going on in his vicinity shortly after the thirties. He tells how the engineers came into the country, run the lines of survey, and then followed the overseer's engaging men to grub out the trees and the undergrowth.

The actual construction work went on just about in the same way that such work is done nowadays, only there were no steam shovels, motor trucks and steam cars to aid in the work as is employed nowadays. He, as a mere youth, watched the men from sun-up to sun-set, plow through the new soil as it was made after the trees had been rooted out and the first evidence of a pathway were seen. Then the stone was laid on the new made bed, each one being no more than eight inches in weight. The stone was spread on with shovels and then raked smooth, the men being careful that no clay or sand was mixed with the stone when it was put on. The traffic then stamped this bed into a hard mass, the character of building being on the order of macadam. Mr. Porter remembers more clearly the scene which followed afterwards.

He says that the road was no sooner opened for traffic that the stage coaches began to come back and forth, and the great army of travelers swarmed through from the east to the west. It is his recollection that the road began to lose its original durability and smoothness along about the time of the Civil war, for it was during these years that great army cavalades came over this highway with heavy guns and war vehicles that tore up the original foundation and started its deterioration. From that time on up to the present it is Mr. Porter's recollection that the road was neglected. It was with a tinge of sadness that he related this phase of the highway's history, for if there is anything in Joseph Porter's waning life that he is proud of, it is the national road which he knew as a boy and as a man.

Mr. Porter says that when he was six years of age, he was taken by his parents from the homestead at Coal Dale to Zanesville, where he remained until he was 30 years of age having begun the teaching of school there at the age of 19 years. But even as a youngster he kept on the road from Zanesville to his old home and watched its construction.

In the meantime an older brother had bought the homestead after the death of the parents, paying the sum of $900 for the 130 acres that bordered the National pike. Then coal was discovered on the land, and the brother of Joseph Porter, being a man of agricultural pursuits, became very much disgusted with his holdings. Joseph Porter, fostering in his heart the romance of the old place and being a child of the National pike, longed to possess the acres that he roamed as a youngster. So he paid his brother the sum of $600 for the 130 acres and left the town of Zanesville and his school room to become a local coal king.

It is with pathos that this portion of his life is recited by the aged patriarch, for he prides himself on the manner in which he conducted his coal business. He tells how the men he had employed on the place were cheating his customers at all times against his knowledge. Then he relates the discovery, and the exacting rules that he set down for honest dealings. The result was that Mr. Porter, according to his own words, cornered the coal business of that vicinity. From this coal business Mr. Porter increased his holdings until he owns at present, time a trifle less than a thousand acres in and around Coal Dale. So, at the age of four score years and ten he sits on the pinnacle of righteousness and reaps the honors that are due one of his character.

Like many others living along the road, Mr. Porter's fence in several instances encroached upon the original 8-foot right of way. But he is one who is mindful of this and last winter he had his fences set back.

"I am happy in the thought at my age to be able to live long enough to see the National pike revived in interest among the people of the state and nation," said Mr. Porter recently. "I think I shall see the old road restored to its original beauty and durability."

SUCCESS OF A MEDICINE

All things succeed which fill a real need; that a doctor is kept busy day and night proves his ability and skill; that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is sold in enormous quantities in almost every city, town and hamlet in America and in foreign countries as well proves its merit, and women are found everywhere who tell of health restored by its use.

Muggins—"I feel so sorry for B Jones. He's as deaf as a post." Buggins—"Oh, there are worse afflictions than mere deafness." Muggins—"Yes, but he has always been so fond of hearing himself talk."

Members of the board of health of a Canadian town visited the slaughter houses the other day and straightway announced that they would become vegetarians.

Wigwag—"What do you think of B Jones?" Henpecker—"I have a great admiration for him. I once heard him tell his wife right to her face that she was mistaken."

WHY CLARK IS NEVER CONSULTED

Speaker's Power Not as Great as That of Majority Leader.

WHO IS FINANCING MEXICO?

Attention Called to Tremendous Amount of Money Necessary to Maintain Standing Armies—Difficult to Keep a Quorum in Either House or Senate—Precedents Established.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, July 13.—[Special.]—“I wish he would consult the speaker,” was the remark of a prominent Democrat of the house in referring to President Wilson. “He always consults Underwood and other members, but does not seem to realize that the speaker holds the second position of power in the country.”

Probably the president realizes, as many other people have come to realize, that when the speaker was shorn of his power by the new methods adopted by the Democrats when they took control of the house, he is not so influential as he was in former years. No doubt the president consults Underwood in preference to Clark because he knows that the majority leader is in closer touch with the members of the house than the speaker. It is the leader who practically names the committees—that is what gives him his control—and Underwood is the kind of a man who can keep control.

Mexican Finances.

No doubt it is much cheaper to maintain armies in Mexico than it would be to maintain the same number of fighting men in other countries, but even in the Mexican way it must take a deal of money. Naturally the question is asked, “Who is financing the warring factions?”

The answer usually has been that large interests in Mexico are behind these factions, but even that is not quite satisfactory. It is doubtful whether the stake can possibly warrant the outlay. A civil war such as has torn Mexico for three years would have bankrupted almost any other country.

Counting a Quorum.

When Speaker Reed counted a quorum in the house more than twenty years ago he raised a riot. Now the speaker counts to determine the presence of a quorum day after day. Vice President Marshall found one day that forty-eight senators had voted on a proposition, just one short of a quorum. “We might just as well settle this question now as any other time,” he announced and proceeded to count three senators who had announced their pairs and declined to vote as making a quorum. There was an appeal and a great deal of argument. Then the morning hour expired, and the question was shunted into the limbo of things never decided. But some day Vice President Marshall will establish his precedent on this subject, upsetting all that has gone before.

Long Service Against Him.

Congressman James T. Lloyd of Missouri is encountering serious opposition at home because he is now serving his ninth term, of eighteen years in all. “No Democrat forty years old has ever had an opportunity to vote for any one but Jim Lloyd,” is the argument which is used by his opponents. Oftentimes long service is an asset because of the advantage it gives a member in committee assignments and influence. But there comes a time when ambitious men say, “He's had it long enough,” and they go after the long service man.

Short Talks by Gallinger.

“I am not going to discuss this question at any length,” said Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire when he began addressing the senate. “I have come to the conclusion that I am not going to discuss anything at great length in the senate hereafter,” he added. There are millions of people who wish that other senators would follow the lead of this senior senator of the body and “can” much of the talk.

Cause of Absenteeism.

So many senators gave as a reason for nonattendance in the senate that they were engaged in committee work caused an investigation to be made, and it was ascertained that sixteen committees of the senate had obtained permission to sit during the sessions of the senate. Of course that excused the senators; although they did not have to give any excuse. They can simply stay away, and there is no way to help it.

The Game of “Seesaw.”

Congressman Wingo of Arkansas was criticizing the methods of legislation one day and remarked that he thought it was about time for the house to stop “seesawing with the senate.” He said he would rather retire from congress than engage in such a game.

“I'm afraid my friend will have to resign,” remarked Congressman Sisson of Mississippi, “for the only way we can legislate is to seesaw with the senate.” Sisson knew, for he had been on many conference committees when the “seesawing” lasted for weeks. And, what is more, he knows that the senate has better staying qualities in such a game than the house.

Served With Bryan.

George Fred Williams, who, as minister to Greece, has caused talk in and outside of diplomatic circles, was a pronounced anti-Wilson man in the preliminary campaign of 1912, so much so that he prepared extracts from Wilson's speeches and writings to show that Wilson could not be elected. That he was given a foreign appointment was rather surprising, but not to those who remembered that Williams and Bryan entered the house together back in the Fifty-second congress and became warm friends. Williams was one of the most earnest supporters of Bryan from his first campaign and ever afterward.

Recedes on Seeds.

The senate spent several days discussing free seeds when the agricultural bill was under consideration. Finally by a roll call the free seed proposition was eliminated. But the house conferees would not accept the change. And they did not have to stand firm. Almost without question the senate receded. Free seeds will be distributed as heretofore.

Borah in Demand.

Quite a number of Republicans, candidates for re-election, have been making inquiries about campaign speakers in their districts and find that there is a great demand for Senator Borah of Idaho. As these Republicans have talked matters over they are saying that it is a pity that Borah is from such a far western state with comparatively small population. “If he were from Ohio or Indiana or any other big state there would be no question about his looming large as a presidential quantity,” is a remark quite frequently heard.

“James” Indignation Meeting.

Soon after the report was noted about that James Hamilton Lewis had determined to drop the “James” and hereafter be known as Hamilton he was called into the cloakroom on the Democratic side.

Big Ollie James arose and, pointing to other members of the group, said, “James Hamilton Lewis, you see before you James Clarke, James O'Gorman, James Martine, James Reed, James Vardaman and James Brady, all members of the senate, while I am James by surname.”

“It almost gives me the jimjams,” murmured Lewis, but Ollie went on: “We understand you have discarded the name ‘James,’ and we call you to account for it. James is an honorable name, borne by many worthy men. The best you can say of Hamilton is that he was the sire of many noted horses, but that is no reason why you should prefer that name to James or shirk your full responsibility as one of the ‘Jims’ of this honorable body.”

Lewis apologized and asserted that he only put the James in the discard once in order to accommodate the length of a card to mark a desk.

A Brave Man, But—

Congressman Levy of New York is a man of convictions who is not afraid to express them. He was the only man in the Democratic caucus who dared to rise and offer a resolution in opposition to the program of the president. He was bold enough to offer a resolution to adjourn congress the middle of this month. While nine-tenths of the members are with him, they do not so declare themselves.

Making a Real Fight.

The dozen or more senators who are opposing the rivers and harbors bill are putting up a real fight. They mean to defeat the big bill if they can. While the friends of the measure are confident, they are at the same time somewhat disturbed at the persistency of the opponents.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush the Kidneys at once when Backache or Bladder Bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a wellknown authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, head-aches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a teaspoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

It's Granmother's recipe to bring back color, thickness and lustre—Everybody is using it again.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advanced age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of “Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy.” Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger. Associated Press.

General Manager Melville E. Stone of the Associated Press, the world's greatest news gathering organization of which the Advocate is the only member in Licking county, very clearly and convincingly replies through the current number of Collier's weekly, to a recent attack. The absurdity of the charge that it sometimes made against the Associated Press that it holds a monopoly of the news is shown in Mr. Stone's reply. Mr. Stone says in part:

"The Associated Press is simply a voluntary union of a number of newspapers for the employment of a certain staff of news reporters to serve them jointly. The output of the Associated Press is not the news, but its own story of the news. To illustrate: At the point of origin, Havana, the destruction of the Maine was known to every person in the city. Any one could have written a story of it. The Associated Press men did. It was their own story, sent to their own papers which employed them and had stationed them there for the purpose of sending a report of whatever news developed.

Any disinterested person will at once see that it would be ridiculous to demand that such a report written by the employees of the Associated Press for its own members should be turned over to any competitor who asked for it.

"No question of exceptional privilege or advantage from government or corporation enters into the co-operative organization of the Associated Press. It is a personal service wholly, in no sense resembling a public utility. The members simply unite to secure by co-operation reports of news that may be reported by any one to anybody. The Associated Press merely provides the means for reporting this news to its members. It interposes no obstacle to the collection of the same news by any one else for anybody else. All it maintains is that it has an absolute and unquestioned right to the exclusive use of the agencies it has created for the collection of news for its own use.

Industrial Improvement.

The unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation during June responded to the improvement of business. They showed an increase of 34,697 tons, the first since February, and with the exception of that month and January, the first since December of 1912.

It is worth noting that the gain in unfilled orders was made despite an additional gain in shipments. The orders received during June were about 12,000 tons per day larger than during May, but shipments were 1000 tons per day larger. The great bulk of the gain in orders was balanced by the gain in shipments.

The increase is small, but it marks the termination of the period of decrease which, with the exception of the two months specified, has continued for eighteen months.

Simultaneously the Pennsylvania railroad announces the placing of orders for 100,000 tons of rails, its requirements for 1914. July shows an industrial gain over June and there is reason to believe that the period of improvement will be more marked in the near future.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

A little thing like an election never bothers General Huerta and the reason probably is that he always knows the answer ahead of time.

Record Vote Predicted.

There ought to be a tremendous vote in Ohio this fall. Never before has the appeal to the people been so general. Never before have so many issues been up as will be up at the election in November. County and state offices are to be filled; a state legislature, congressmen and a United States senator are to be chosen, and three amendments to the constitution—woman suffrage, state-wide prohibition and the opposing liberal proposition—are to be submitted. It is a voter in the state who is not moved by one or the other of these issues to go to the polls, he will be a curiosity. * * * Never in Ohio was there so great an opportunity for the man with the ballot. All things are his if he will take them. The bosses and the machines have been pushed aside, and he has a fair chance to rule, if he will. * * * —Columbus Sunday Dispatch.

Business Situation.

President Wilson's willingness to talk over the business situation with business men and to listen to their suggestions relative to important pending legislation is giving general satisfaction. * * * He is asking serious counsel with the men who know actual conditions. What the net result of these counsels will be this is no attempt to predict. But the fact that the President of the United States is not disposed to use his tremendous power to shape and force legislation without having all the information obtainable is reassuring by itself.—Chicago Herald.

Terrible Warning.

A Boston man quit supporting his family because his wife was tango crazy, his daughter tangoed to the dinner table with the beans and his son tangoed himself to sleep every night. After reading that awful warning, tango-struck women should hesitate.—Akron Beacon Journal.

Even In Suffrage States.

Should the question of continuing the modern styles in gowns be submitted to popular vote, it is believed that the eyes would have it.—Washington Post.

That's The Trouble.

And this: Most people would be content when they have enough if they only knew how much that is.—Dayton News.

Who Can Object?

Ohio is to have a special session of its Legislature, but as the purpose is to reduce taxation it may be welcomed.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Gov. Cox Reviews His Deeds
Defending Warnes Tax Law
And the Compensation Act

(From Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

A year ago last January Governor James M. Cox took office on a party platform pledged to a program, both of which spelled hard work.

A constitutional election a few months before had definitely indicated the will of the people of Ohio along certain lines of change and reform in the fundamental law of this state.

Through one year and six months of his administration the governor has fought for his program.

Just now he is about to engage in a campaign for re-election, re-election and vindication. The governor is a strenuous fighter. He is at his best when the opposition seems the strongest.

Having been one of the most strenuous governors the state ever has had, and being a good fighter, his campaign is expected to be characteristic of the man. For the Plain Dealer the governor has prepared a brief summary of the chief things that have been done in his administration. It is upon them that he bases his strongest claim for re-election and re-election.—Editor's Note

BY GOVERNOR JAMES M. COX.

It has been an interesting fight. The zone of misunderstanding was large, but we see the light again. The element of interest and excitement incident to the game has been a sustaining force, where great human strength was called for. Opposition can't live on a shadow. Substance is necessary, and our friends, the opposition, have been most kind in convincing the people, after a time, that their campaign was one of falsehood and deceit.

The first opposition I met was when I undertook to recommend a consolidation of numerous agricultural bodies into an effective commission that could and would do things. Opposition at once sprang up from many sources. In running it down I invariably found that it was from an interested source. I knew of the overlapping efforts of the several organizations and institutions having to do with agriculture.

Editors With Me.

I knew the inefficiency and inefficiency of many of these and I was determined that a commission should be created that would not expend its energies in useless directions. The editors of the agricultural newspapers and many members of the state senate were with me, but there was tremendous opposition all along the line. I knew that the formation of the agricultural commission would save thousands of dollars to the state and prove of the very greatest benefit, and it was a surprise to find opposition to the plan. But I have never cared much about opposition when I believed I was right. An effort was made to bring about a referendum vote on the bill creating the commission, but that disturbed no one. If the people of the state did not want an agricultural commission it was their business, and I was not in the least disturbed by the threat of a referendum upon the measure.

However, the commission was created; splendid men were named upon it; and it has already demonstrated to the unselfish observer its great aid to the agricultural interests of the state. More farmers' institutes are provided. There are scientific men attending all of them. Concentration of effort in agricultural betterment and a general awakening in the rural communities has been the result. It would be impossible to state in dollars and cents the real value to Ohio of the work performed in a single year, by the agricultural commission.

Then it was proposed to hire a farmer to superintend the farming of the state land in connection with the various institutions, but the proposition was ridiculed. The salary of the farmer employed was criticized. Nothing valuable would be accomplished, it was said. But today Ohio is growing hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of produce upon her hands where formerly only tens of thousands of dollars worth were grown.

Take the matter of community breeding, as it was called. We have purchased some of the best strains of cattle in the world and are actually raising the grade of cattle all over the state. We are furnishing the services of these blooded cattle to the people in a number of communities and expect to extend that service. It is my prediction that within five years the average grade of cattle in Ohio will exceed that produced by any other agricultural community in the world.

Then came the attack on the good roads proposition and the proposal to levy a half mill tax with which to build market roads. Much of this opposition came from the cities. It was argued that it was unfair to tax a man in the city to build a road in the country. I do not believe it is unfair. I believe that every dollar of money spent for good roads in the country aids every man who resides in a city.

I believe that it is right that the cities, maintained as they are through the prosperity of the country, should contribute to that prosperity. Every county in this state but twelve receives more money for good roads than it contributes. These twelve counties are the ones in which the larger cities are located. And the cities are going to reap their benefit through the better transportation facilities which the good roads will create.

Opposition to the workmen's compensation law has subsided so far as the employee and the employer are concerned, because both the employee and employer now see that it is one of the most splendid measures ever enacted. But certain liability insurance interests are as busy as they have ever been in their opposition to me and the measure.

Why should they not be? It has cut off a source of revenue for them. Money which manufacturers now pay for protection goes to injured workmen and their dependents and not to these insurance companies. Besides, the state rate is so much lower than the rate charged by the commercial companies in other states there seems to be fear among the companies at this time that the Ohio measure will extend across the borders and be adopted in other states. Not only has it been demonstrated that the Ohio rate was sufficiently large to cover all emergencies, but the rate is gradually being reduced. This is in part due to the greater care now exercised by employers in the protection of their working people.

Workmen Ample Protected.

The industrial commission is now settling 300 or 400 claims a day, and while that is pretty hard on the attorneys who would have brought suit in many of these instances, it means that the workmen of the state are now protected as they never were before.

I believe that either the school law or the Warnes tax measure will prove of the most far reaching benefit. The opposition we encountered when we proposed to reform the school code came primarily from a number of persons then in the service who were afraid they could not stand the test but the opposition was fanned into flame by persons who were not interested in the schools but who really wanted to choke off the workmen's compensation law.

I was not willing to risk my own judgment in proposing school reforms. A complete survey of the state was made requiring nearly a year's time but costing the state very little money because of the scientific men we were able to borrow from other sources. It was upon this report of the school survey commission that the present school code was based. Just think of it! Prior to the adoption of our present law there were only two states in the Union that did not have county supervision. One of these was Arkansas and the other Ohio. So far as I know Arkansas is now the only state that does not have county supervision.

I need not continue upon the subject of better school conditions. The fact that the normal schools of the state are now overcrowded with teachers who are learning to teach in order to meet the requirements of the present law is the best evidence I can point to as tending to show that we are going to have better schools in this state.

Willing to Risk Criticism.

I knew then, and I know now, that there was not the necessity for appointing rural assessors that there was for appointing city assessors, because in the country the most of the property is visible. If a law could have been devised providing for the election of assessors in the country districts and favoring their appointment in the cities I might have advocated it, but I was willing to risk the criticism which had been heaped upon me for having assessors appointed in the country, in order that they might be appointed in the cities.

Did you ever notice that it often happens that the people who are severest in their criticism of a measure in the beginning become its warmest supporters in the end? Well, that is exactly what is happening and is going to continue to happen in regard to the Warnes law. It was devised that the rich city dweller should pay his just proportion of the taxes, thereby relieving his poorer neighbor and the small property holder in the country of paying undue proportions.

But it so happened that the first people to complain were the citizens of the rural communities. It was not altogether their fault, however. They were led to believe that I was trying to create a gigantic monopoly of some kind for my own use and that their property would be taxed excessively. They profit by this law, because it corrects the inequality from which they suffered.

BLOWING MONEY.

It's surely funny to blow in money as fast as it is earned, but what will follow, oh gentle Rollo, when all the wealth is burned?

Suppose you sicken, and troubles thicken about your lowly shack, while docs and nurses discourse of hearse as you lie on your back? The job you're holdin', with staid old golden money leav' you any day, and you'll sit sweatin' in vain regretting the dough you fooled away. Salt down the plunder, or you will blunder so bad that all your days with melancholy you'll view with your folly, beav' your spending craze. If you have rhino the people, I know, to you will lift the hat, but none respects you, the world rejects you, if you are busted flat. How sweet and mellow to every fellow is life's serene decline, if he is loaded with uncorroded doubloons, but down in brine! How bleak and dreary, and sad and weary, is age to one who's broke, who sits and hollers about the dollars that he sent up in smoke!

WILLIAM FRAZIER.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Frazier, 23 1-2 North Fourth street, Zanesville, O. Mr. Frazier was until recently one of the owners of the Licking Laundry in Newark.

There's a curly haired laddie living over in Cedar street, East Newark, who is very determined to see his prayers right. One night not long ago he was repeating the Lord's prayer, but he omitted the part, "Give us this day our daily bread." Before he had finished his prayer, it occurred to him that something was wrong, then he said:

"Oh, Mamma, wait a minute—we forgot to ask for that loaf of bread."

A little boy who lives in Licking county had been accustomed to hear his grandpa offer a brief prayer of thanks at table before each meal. The prayer was usually given in subdued tones, in fact, almost in a whisper.

One day at table, the little boy remained silent for so long with his head bowed over his plate, that members of the family asked him what he was doing. Presently he lifted his eyes rather sternly and said:

"Don't bother me. I'm whispering to my plate."

There's a certain little girl in town who occasionally visits the home of neighbors whose little boy has a tiny rocking chair. The little girl likes to sit in the rocker on occasions of her calls but she's a little shy about asking for it. One day not long ago she stood around for five or ten minutes, then, looking wistfully toward the chair, remarked:

"It's dittin' tired 'tandin' up."

She got the chair.

Mr. Howard Darrow, who Saturday evening suffered from a sudden and acute attack of neuralgia, which sent him to bed under a doctor's care, is so far recovered as to attend to business for a few hours today.

BADLY INJURED IN FALL FROM FREIGHT TRAIN

Clarence Robinson, 28 of this city, was cut about the head and very painfully bruised when he fell from a freight train near Twenty-first street at 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. The young man was rendered unconscious by the fall and was rushed to the Sanitarium by Criss Brothers' ambulance. Unless internal injuries develop the young man will recover.

Robinson, his brother, and a third companion were riding on the train when his hand hold was jolted loose.

FORD CAR HIT FREIGHTER AND WAS OVERTURNED

A four passenger Ford automobile driven by Floyd Anderson of Frazersburg, was demolished Saturday evening in East Main street when Mr. Anderson ran into an Ohio Electric car.

The accident happened about 7 o'clock, when the driver endeavored to turn his machine and caught it in the trucks of freight car No. 771 coming in from Zanesville, which was passing at the time. The impact overturned the machine and it was badly wrecked but the occupants escaped without injury.

FIRST ROUND IN FINALS FOR THE PREXY CUP

The first round in the elimination contest of the golf tournament for the president's cup at the Country club has been completed. One of the features of the play was the defeat of Roderic Miller by James Dewey and that of Hollander by Webb.

The finals were: Heiser beat Graesser 2 up and 1 to play; Hundleb beat Wyeth 4 up and 2 to play; Webb beat Mitchell 1 up; Hollander beat Ewing 3 up and 2 to play; Franklin beat Whipple 5 up and 3 to play; Dorey beat McGruder 3 up and 1 to play; Dewey beat Wiant 3 up and 1 to play; R. Miller beat P. Wright 2 up and 1 to play; Carroll beat Mosteller 1 up; Manning beat Black 5 up and 4 to play; Herzog beat Hayden, Jr. 4 up and 3 to play; Miller beat E. C. Wright 4 up and 3 to play; Fitzgerald beat C. W. Miller 1 up; and Jones beat Collins 1 up.

YOUNG WOMAN WAS KNOCKED DOWN BY FRIGHTENED HORSE

About 8 o'clock Saturday evening, Miss Goldie Brookover of East Newark had a narrow escape from serious injury when she was knocked down by a frightened horse.

Miss Brookover was crossing East Main street at Madison avenue and a horse and buggy was going east on the street. A city car came up East Main street and the horses took fright and in plunging struck the girl knocking her down. The horse was caught and the young woman found to have been slightly bruised. She was helped to her home nearby.

COM. S. E. STRODE

Addresses National Association of Dairy, Food and Drug Officials At Portland, Maine, Today.

(Associated Press Telegram) Portland, Me., July 13.—The average consumer is a much better judge of price in dollars and cents than of quality or quantity," said S. E. Strode, agricultural commissioner of Ohio here today before the National Association of dairy, food and drug officials. He urged that consumers will look after the price of articles but that public food officials must be alert to prevent adulteration of even the most pure, and short weight. Ordinary buyers do not know themselves with these features he declared.

LAST HONORS PAID TO LATE CHIEF KENNY

One of the New York city dailies had the following to say of the funeral of Thomas A. Kenny whose son, W. F. Kenny was called home from this city last week while visiting at the Philip Vogelmeier home.

There was a large crowd at the funeral of Thomas A. Kenny, the retired Battalion Chief, at the Church of the Epiphany, on South Ninth street, today.

There was a funeral escort consisting of a battalion of two companies of twelve men each, commanded by Thomas F. Norton, Chief of Battalion, in charge of Lieuts. Valentine H. Ford, of Engine company No. 211, and Chris. A. Hoffman, of Engine Company No. 251. The deputy chiefs of the First, Second, Third and Fifth Divisions, detailed three men each and the Tenth and Eleventh Divisions six men each to act as part of the funeral escort.

Among those at the funeral were: Fire Chief Kenlon, former Borough President John F. Ahearn of Manhattan; Thomas E. Foley, M. H. Looney, William Burns, the detective; James Brogan, Michael F. Grady, president of the New York Edison company; George Noakes, Police Captain Devey, Deputy Fire Chief Binns, Congressman Daniel Reardon, Borough Inspector James E. Dillon, ex-inspector Sweeney, A. V. Midgerton, Thomas E. Murray, vice president of the New York Edison company, and Lieutenant John Tighe.

A high requiem mass was celebrated by the Rev. Edward Duffy, rector of the Church of the Epiphany. He was assisted by the Rev. Father William B. Farrell, of St. Peter and Paul's church, and the Rev. Father Scott of the Brooklyn college.

More than 200 carriages followed in the funeral cortege. Ten of these were opened and filled with flowers. The interment was at Calvary cemetery.

The Courts

Divorce Petitions. Two divorce suits were filed in probate court Monday, one in behalf of a wife and the other in behalf of a husband. Attorney B. R. Nott represents Mrs. Esther L. Pickett, who seeks divorce from Wilbert Clinton Pickett and restoration of her maiden name, Wamsley. The Picketts were married August 4, 1912, and Pickett's offense against his wife started shortly thereafter, she alleged. He is charged with extreme cruelty and habitual intoxication. There are no little Picketts.

Attorney L. C. Russell filed a petition for Francis C. Brown vs. Ida J. Brown, in which willful absence is the ground on which divorce is sought. They were married March 29, 1901, and have no children.

Justice Scott's Arrest. Frank Wagner was arrested on affidavit of state deputy fish and game wardens, Saturday afternoon, charged with having a gilt net in his possession. Wagner contends the net is useless. Magistrate Scott set the case for next Monday morning.

THE SICK

Mrs. James Parker, whose skull was fractured when she was thrown from a buggy one month ago, was removed from Eleventh street to her home west of Ulica Saturday evening by Bazler & Bradley's ambulance.

GOD'S MESSAGE THRU MOVIES

The History of Man's Rebellion Against God—To Israel Alone God Spoke. Through the Law and the Prophets. God Now Speaks Through His Son. To the Church Alone—Only the Spirit. It Begetten Can Discern Spiritual Things—The Proper Attitude of Heart—Consecration a Most Reasonable Step—The Responsibility of the Consecrated Child of God.

(PASTOR RUSSELL)

July 12. — The Photo-Drama of Creation is now being produced daily in more than eighty cities, both here and abroad. From all sides come words of commendation. The Bible is being opened up to popular understanding as never before. Pastor Russell's text today was, "See that ye refuse not Him that speaketh * * * from Heaven."—Hebrews 12:25.

The Pastor introduced his discourse with a comment upon the opening verses of the Epistle to the Hebrews.

There the Apostle is contrasting the Message which God sent through the Lord Jesus Christ with those messages sent previously through His servants—Moses and the Prophets of Israel. The Apostle elsewhere tells us that God speaks peace unto us through His Son. This statement suggests that previously there had been war. Away back in the days of Eden, when Father Adam and Mother Eve were on trial, Mother Eve was misled by Satan's suggestion and disobeyed God's command. Then Father Adam, leaning to his own understanding, sinned wilfully, that he might have fellowship with his wife—rather than with God. Thus the entire race was brought into rebellion against the Creator and were condemned to death in Adam.

Then the Pastor went on to trace the history of the rebellious race of man. Cut off from fellowship with God, falling deeper and deeper into sin, degradation and death conditions, none were fit to be called children of God. About twenty-five centuries after the fall, the Almighty gave the Israelites opportunity to come into harmony with Him. There He spoke to them especially, through Moses and the Law Covenant, directing that whoever would hear Moses and obey might come closer to their Creator. So we read, "They have Moses and the Prophets; let them hear them." God had not spoken to mankind in general; only to the little nation of Israel had He given a Message. To them He had not spoken in any other way than through the Law and the Prophets. The Apostle tells us that those who disobeyed Moses' Law died without mercy. Moses was God's mouthpiece; and therefore whoever disobeyed him came under the penalty of death.

The Apostle's argument, the Pastor declared, is this: Now, brethren, review the history of Israel, and see how from time to time they neglected the messages which God sent them at the mouth of angels and of Moses, and note how disasters came on them because of that negligence. If, then, there was such a penalty inflicted for negligence respecting the words of Moses, what should be the result of refusing to hear Him who speaks from Heaven itself? If those who rejected Moses' Law died without mercy, how much severer punishment should they receive who would count the blood of the Covenant whereby they were sanctified a common thing, and who would do despite to God's spirit of favor? Surely we may expect that there would be nothing further for those who reject God's arrangement for man's salvation!

Three Classes in the Church. The Pastor next showed that the consecrated people of God will finally be found in one of three classes. The Little Flock, to whom our Lord declared it is the Father's good pleasure to give the Kingdom, is a limited number—so far as we can judge probably 144,000. Then comes the Great Company, "whose number no man knows"—God not having revealed it—a class unworthy of a place in the Little Flock, but yet loyal in heart to God and the principles of righteousness. Last of all, is the class that go into the Second Death, the class that do despite to the Covenant of Grace. Formerly the Pastor was inclined to think that this class would be very small, but of late he realizes that according to the experiences of the typical people the number will be much larger than he once had thought; for many Israelites fell in the wilderness on account of having rejected the testimony of the Lord, and their death was typical.

No one is on trial for life, the Pastor declared, except those who have gotten free from the sentence of Adam's death. No one has a standing with God except those who have turned from sin and have presented their bodies in full consecration to Him. Those who have taken these steps have been accepted by the Lord Jesus, in harmony with the Father's great Plan. Immediately after our Lord has accepted them, He counts them as His flesh; and then the Father also accepts that flesh; for, as the Scriptures point out, the flesh of Christ has been in offering throughout the Gospel Age. Jesus first offered His own flesh. When He had finished that work, He appeared in the presence of God and made satisfaction for the sins of the Church, beginning with the Apostles. Then the Father indicated His acceptance of their sacrifices by giving them the Holy Spirit.

Throughout the Gospel Age, the Pastor continued, all believers have received the Holy Spirit just as soon as they have been accepted of the Father, through the great Advocate. All through the Age the members of the Body of Christ have been coming to Him; and the flesh of the Church, the consecrated ones, has been counted as the flesh of Jesus. This flesh has been suffering for nearly nineteen hundred years—Christ suffering in the flesh.

Thus we see the fulfillment of the Scripture which declares that the Church is filling up that which remains of the afflictions of Christ. "If we suffer with Him, we shall also reign with Him." And "the sufferings of the present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed" in the Church which is the Body of Christ. The Prophets of old, says St. Peter, spoke of the sufferings of the Christ and of the glory that shall follow. All who share the sufferings will also share the coming blessings—glory, honor and immortality.

Then the Pastor pointed out that those who are received of the Lord are in spirit all one as New Creatures. There is one Body of Christ in the flesh of the Church. Then there is the other Body of Christ, the New Creature Body, composed of the new natures of all who are begotten of the Holy Spirit as New Creatures; and these New Creatures inhabit this flesh of Christ. Here are two Bodies of Christ—then the Body of Christ in the flesh, and the Body of Christ spiritually, which is dwelling in these earthly tabernacles and seeking to bring them to the sacrificial point day by day in everything. He also showed that the final Body of Christ beyond the veil will be composed of the "more than conquerors"—only—Jesus, the Captain, and all who voluntarily lay down their lives in following His example.

Thus there are three Bodies of Christ. The final one is taken out of the other two. Those who are left constitute the Great Company and those who go into the Second Death. But those who constitute these Bodies are the only ones with whom God is dealing—the only ones whom He has yet received. And even these were not received until they had come to the full point of consecration and were begotten of the Holy Spirit as New Creatures. Therefore it is the New Creature that is on trial, not the flesh. Throughout the entire Gospel Age, only the New Creatures in Christ have been on trial for life or death eternal.

Who May Reject Christ. The Pastor then explained that no one can reject Christ in the full sense of the word and go into the Second Death unless he had fully come into Christ and had become His disciple. While many have heard of Christ and have been drawn toward Him, yet until they offer themselves to God in consecration and receive the begetting of the Holy Spirit they do not really hear Him who speaks from Heaven. Those who are begotten of the Holy Spirit get a new understanding, a new hearing, new ears as it were, and new eyes. As New Creatures they see, hear and understand differently from what they formerly did. As St. Paul says, "The natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God; for they are foolishness unto him; neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned." No one can discern spiritual things until he has been begotten of the Holy Spirit.

But there is such a thing as rejecting Christ after one has heard about Him. One may turn his back upon the world, and turn his face toward God and start in the right direction. Every step of the way he will receive a little blessing. But if, when he has progressed to the place where he sees consecration clearly, he should turn back, it is a question whether his former progress in the right direction has not done him harm.

The Pastor illustrated this point by referring to the Tabernacle in the Wilderness. If one going toward the Tabernacle had entered the Court, had recognized the sacrifice of atonement upon the Brazen Altar, had progressed to the Laver, representing the purification of the flesh, and then had halted, he could not have seen the beauties of the Tabernacle. Even if he had come up to the very door of the Tabernacle, if he should then stop, all his previous progress would count for nothing.

So, if one should seek to put away the filth of the flesh—to live as moral a life as possible, to become cleaner and cleaner in his daily conduct—unless he present himself in consecration to God, his morality is of no avail in the matter of bringing him into covenant-relationship with God. Only by faith in the blood of Christ can he approach the Mercy Seat. "There is none other name given under heaven amongst men whereby we must be saved."

Any one who gets a glimpse into the future—when the Millennial Reign of Christ and His Church shall have begun—and who hears of the goodness of God, but is not melted by his own imperfections and his need of a Savior, will, the Pastor believes, be much disadvantaged. Whoever hears the voice of God speaking peace through the Lord Jesus Christ should press on to know the Lord. If even a little glimpse of the coming Restoration, when the whole earth will become like the Garden of Eden and when all men will have the privilege of coming to perfection, does not appeal to one, that one is not in a very favorable condition of mind. Whoever does not love the God who has made so loving a provision for mankind is not in a favorable condition for further knowledge.

The Pastor clearly pointed out that those who have never heard of the goodness of God have very little responsibility in proportion to those who do hear. The heathen millions who have not heard of God could not present their bodies in sacrifice. Our Lord declared that those who knew not would be beaten with few stripes in comparison with those who did know. Whoever therefore has heard, and who knows the will of God and the difference between right and wrong has a responsibility, and will receive stripes for disobedience, even if he does not now come into a full test or trial for life eternal.

"The Cup of Salvation."

The proper attitude of heart, the Pastor declared, is that of appreciation of God's mercies. As the Psalmist has said, "What shall I render unto me? I will take the cup of salvation and call upon the name of the Lord." Whoever hears of God's loving provision for the salvation of mankind should feel like removing from his heart everything that would hinder the love of God from flowing in freely and bringing forth the fruitage of love, devotion and appreciation. To those who especially love God and desire to know His will He has offered a cup, which represents His providences for that special class. Jesus Himself drank that cup, and set us an example.

The Pastor then discussed the subject of consecration, and showed how reasonable it is for one who has come to a knowledge of the goodness of God to offer himself to the Lord. He declared that whoever carefully considered the matter would realize that all one has to offer is far too small. But God says to such, I know that you have practically nothing to give; but you must give all that you have—be it much or little. In comparison with what Jesus gave, you have nothing; for what you have is imperfect and sinful, whereas His offering was holy and undefiled. But He will impute His merit to your offering, and thus make it acceptable.

In the typical Tabernacle and its sacrifices, the Pastor declared, this matter of consecration is represented by the offering of the two goats on the Day of Atonement. The goat represents the flesh of the one offering himself in consecration. Consecration is the tying of the goat at the door of the antitypical Tabernacle. Then the High Priest kills the antitypical Lord's goat. Henceforth the New Creature, begotten of the Holy Spirit at the moment when the sacrifice was accepted, is represented in the Body of the High Priest.

Then, as members of the Body of the antitypical High Priest, the consecrated and spirit-begotten ones are privileged to enter the antitypical Tabernacle, the spirit-begotten condition. There they may have fellowship with God as they partake of the antitypical Bread of Presence, and as they walk by the light of the antitypical Golden Candlestick, which gives them light respecting the deep things of the Word of God. The things in the typical Tabernacle were hidden from the sun; they were dark as respects outside light, but they had the interior light. Those in the antitypical Tabernacle condition have also blessed association with the Incense Altar; not that they have anything, perhaps, to do with offering the Incense, for that which was offered by the great High Priest of their Order was sufficient for all the members of His Body and makes them acceptable in the Most Holy.

Responsibility to Christ.

The Pastor then dwelt on the responsibility resting upon all who have offered themselves as living sacrifices and have been accepted and begotten of the Holy Spirit. These have come under the Headship of Christ. His will is to be their will, His Spirit is to be their spirit. When they were baptized into that one Spirit—when their spirits, their minds, were immersed into that of our Lord and He accepted them as members of His Body, they recognized themselves as under His Headship. This is what produces the oneness of spirit—the sympathetic heart-oneness—of all the members of Christ.

As long as the Headship of Christ is recognized, there must of necessity be much harmony among these members. But should any member get out of harmony with the Head, he is proportionately unable to get a blessing himself or to do good to others. The greatest blessing and usefulness comes from co-operation with the Head in whatever work He is doing.

In conclusion, the Pastor declared that only in proportion as we are in harmony with our Master, the great Head of the Church, can He use us as His members. The voice of the Lord is being heard throughout the earth today. Therefore, all who hear it should see to it that they do not refuse the Message of the hour. To all those who do refuse—as most of them are doing and will do—the tribulation that will come will be all the more severe—"a Time of Trouble such as never was since there was a nation." "no, nor ever shall be" hereafter.

North Newark Notes

Yesterday morning at North Newark Christian Union church, a full congregation attended Sunday school and preaching service. Although the thermometer was up to 95, the people, undaunted, came. The pastor gave a short talk on "The Beneficence of God," after which three young men, Rolla Anderson, Frank Young, and Arthur Soustin, were baptized.

Mrs. Ina Van Ostrand of Maple avenue has peritonitis and is quite sick. Mrs. Esther Pickett of Norton avenue, who has been very poorly since last fall, is now able to take evening rides in the surrey, and her friends are hopeful for her entire recovery.

Mrs. Clarence Bishop of Craig street, has been taken to the home of her mother, near Centerville. It is hoped that the fresh air and diet she will get there will be the means of her restoration to health.

Mrs. J. F. Yans of Maple avenue, has been riding a short distance in the automobile, but still suffers greatly from the pain in her side.

The Royal Daughters class of North Newark Sunday school will have their class meeting at home of Hazel Lightel in Beech street tonight.

Those interested in the singing, will please meet at North Newark Christian Union Chapel Friday night.

The North Newark Y. P. C. U. will attend the lawn fete in West Newark in a box, Thursday night.

Tom Van Ostrand has gone to the country to rest and if possible regain his health. He has had another sunstroke.

William Dushimer and wife of Linville, are visiting for some days with their daughter and family, Mrs. A. Hartough north of the city.

Pansy Stevens of Linville, is visiting friends in and around Newark for a few weeks.

James Burnside and wife, who have been visiting in Henry county for several months, have returned to their home, north of the city.

A few valuable (?) dogs have lost their lives, as a result of too much curiosity about the attempt to populate the court house lawn with squirrels and rabbits.

D. J. Biber will have his new house on Maple avenue, ready for occupancy in a few weeks.

Mrs. Goodwin has purchased the Crawford property East Bolton street, and will take possession as soon as Mr. Crawford can vacate.

The new firm of Goodin-Shepard are putting in extensive and expensive machinery, north end of Hudson avenue, preparatory to establishing a garage and general machine repair shop.

William Elliott, the piano man, is suffering from a sore on the tongue that refuses to yield to treatment. It is hoped by his many friends that it will not prove serious.

Mrs. W. W. Lacy wife of the late Rev. W. W. Lacy, is visiting relatives and friends in and around Gnadenducten.

J. Howard of Maple avenue, is getting quite a reputation as an amateur truck gardener. He plucked his first ripe tomatoes Monday morning.

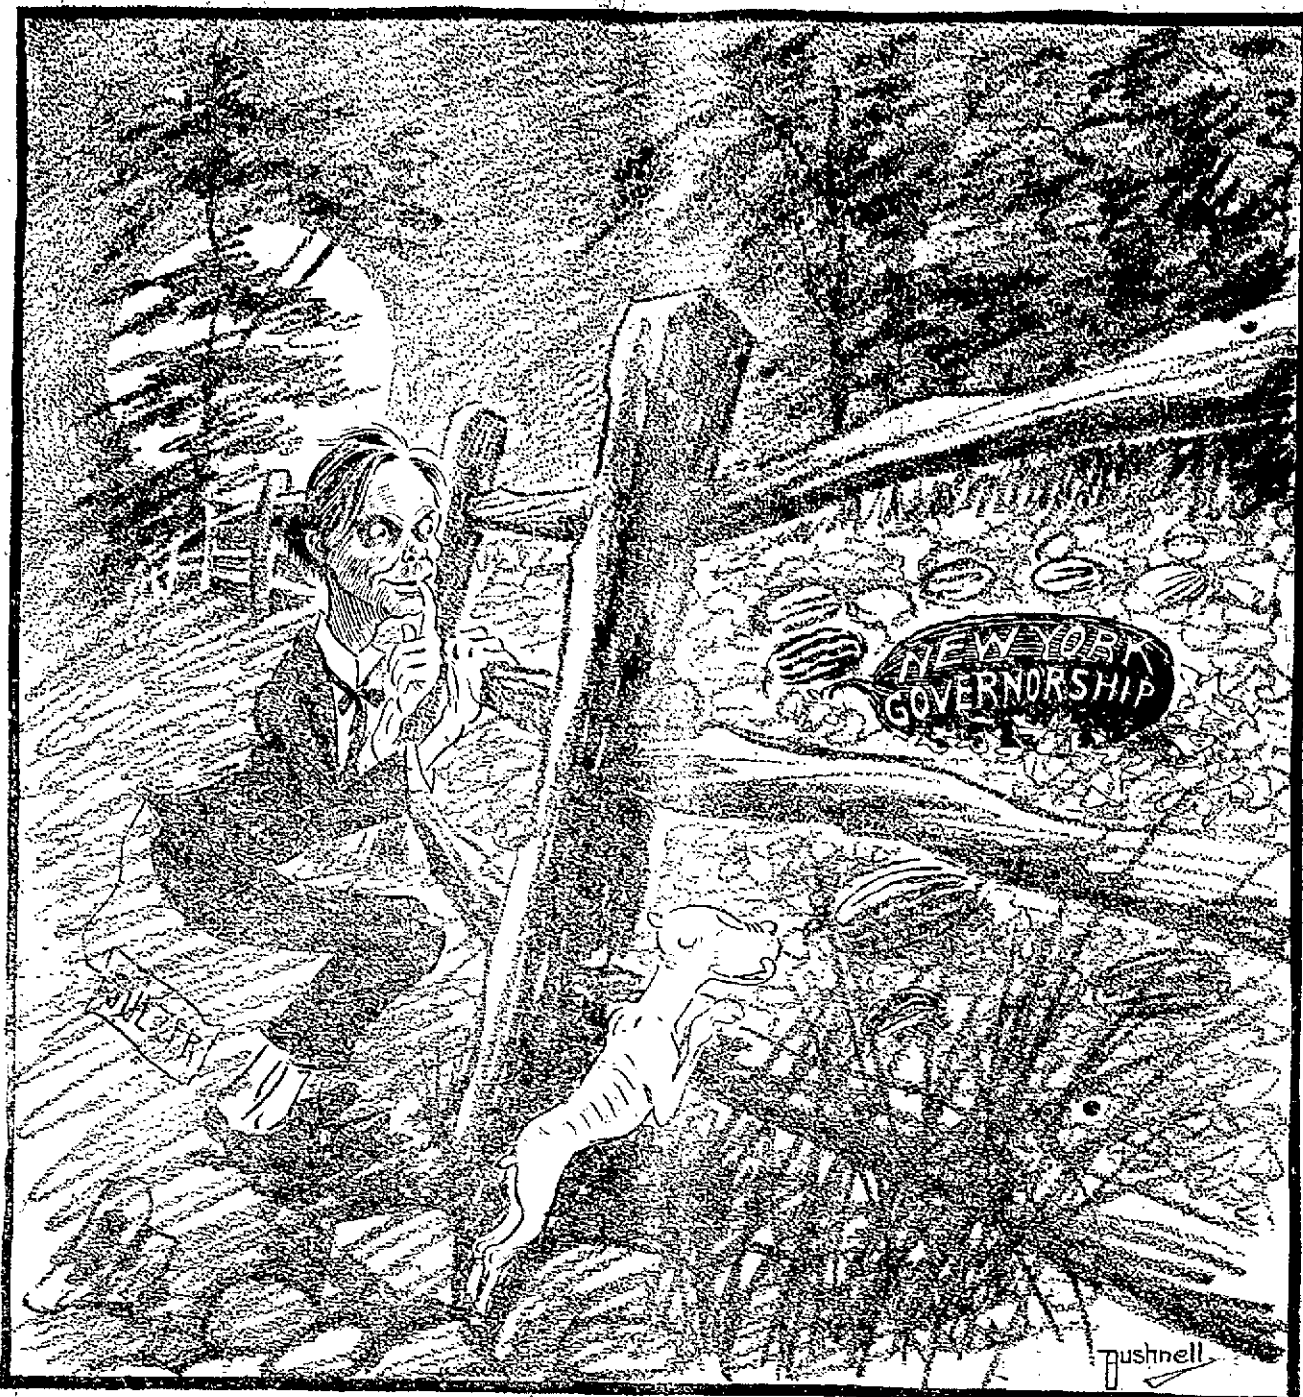

Maple avenue residents are wondering whether they will get their sewer and pavement this year. They are anxious for it to be completed this fall if possible, before the muddy season gets in.

The North Newark Christian Union rostrum was decorated most beautifully Sunday, with flowers presented by Mrs. Nan Showman and daughters. After the service the flowers were distributed among the sick of the church.

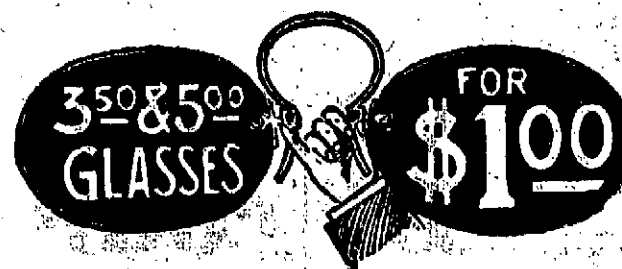

The paving of North street is nearing completion. This was a much needed improvement, as North is a "muddy street" and a narrow one, the street railway switch making it almost impossible to travel at times when there was much rain. The pavement will facilitate travel, as it can not be cut up into ruts as has been the case.

The next improvement in the North End should be the sewerage and paving of Channel street from Fourth street to Maple avenue.

EAST SIDE SQUARE

25 Years Ago

(From Advocate, July 13, 1889.)
Hon. J. B. Jones has commenced the work of repairing and improving the opera house.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sachs left today for Dayton to visit friends.

A man, perhaps 75 years of age, and a fiddle that looked four times as old, entertained a large crowd this morning in the court house park.

Work on the new iron bridge on East Main street, connecting Newark with the East End, is progressing finely. Lane Brothers are doing the iron work and O. Z. Hillary the stone work.

15 YEARS AGO TODAY.
(From Advocate, July 13, 1899.)
Mr. David Owens, a well known farmer, living near Granville, while driving home during the electrical storm today, stopped at the barn belonging to Wilbur Crook to escape the rain. Just as he was driving into the barn, the building was struck by lightning and both horses were instantly killed. Mr. Owen was badly shocked.

The little daughter of Mr. Ferris Crozier of the East End, swallowed a pin this morning which lodged in her windpipe. Dr. J. P. H. Stedem was called and after some time succeeded in removing the pin.

W. W. Rugg, city bill poster and sign painter, has just erected a mammoth double deck bill board at the B. & O. depot.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

Don't forget that the Y. W. C. A. has a summer camp, where you can enjoy rest and life in the open. The Camp Fire Iris are spending this week at Kill-Kare. Each day is filled full of fun, rest, and work, and those fortunate girls are thoroughly enjoying the experience.

The delegates returned from Summerland Friday after spending a week of inspiration and good times at the Industrial club council at Summerland Beach.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors was held Friday evening in the parlors of the Association building.

OPEN AIR GOSPEL MEETING WAS HELD SUNDAY EVENING

With an improvised choir of thirty or forty singers, an organ and a cornet, and an audience of nearly 700 people, the first open air gospel meeting of the Federation of Church Brotherhoods was conducted at 8 o'clock Sunday evening on the north side of the court house.

Mr. Samuel Orr presided and short, pointed, splendid addresses on gospel themes were delivered by Rev. W. P. Ward, pastor of Central Church of Christ, and Mr. L. K. Stage. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. C. G. Hazlett, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. The meetings will be held each Sunday evening during July and August.

Luke McLuke

(Cincinnati Enquirer.)

It doesn't take long to break a man who is on pleasure bent.

When one girl admits that another girl is popular, you can bet that the girl she is speaking of is homely.

Lots of men who use Religion as a cloak in this world will be wearing smoking jackets in the next world.

Why it is that the fellow who won't walk across a room to get his own wife a drink of water will swim a river to do a favor for some other fellow's wife?

There are lots of Good Lookers who are not as good as they look.

Well, this will be about all. Luke is going to roam around and see if there are any Sept. A. M.'s loose in July.

Theatres

Auditorium tonight.

The Famous Battles of Napoleon will be shown at the Auditorium tonight. This wonderful photo production is in four parts.

This photo drama has been played in all towns at prices ranging from ten to twenty-five cents. The management of the Auditorium will for the special benefit of their many patrons play this film at the admission price of only 5 cents.

This film was produced on the actual battlefields, and introduced many historical characters, these films in a series of exciting battles, with a storm drama running through out the entire play.

This production is one of the most interesting and successful of historical films that have ever been attempted.

Amateur Night at the Auditorium.

Big amateur night the Auditorium theater this Wednesday evening. Four of the best amateurs have signed up to appear so far and a few more will sign up before Wednesday night. Those who will have signed are all well known Newark people and a lively contest is looked for. Cash prizes will be the awards. Three prizes are hung up for the amateurs to contest for.

Every amateur will have his friends there to boost his act so come and help your friend win a cash prize. Come prepared to have a good time and a great deal of amusement.

Any amateurs who desire to appear should call at the Auditorium Theater Box office and leave their names and style of act.

The French Academy.

The French academy is one of the five academies and the most eminent constituting the Institute of France. It was founded in 1635 by Cardinal Richelieu and reorganized in 1816. It is composed of forty members, the new member elected by the remaining thirty-nine members for life after personal application and the submission of the nomination to the head of the state. It meets twice weekly and is "the highest authority on everything pertaining to the classics of the French language—to grammar, rhetoric and poetry and the publication of the French classics." The chief officer is the secretary, who has a life tenure of his position. A chair in the academy is the highest ambition of most literary Frenchmen.

Easily Answered.

"I'm a little short and will propound to you a question in mental arithmetic."

"All right, go ahead."

"Well, suppose you had $10 in your pocket and I should ask you for $5, how much would remain?"

"Huh! Ten dollars!"—Chicago News.

Some Women Do Too.

Hemmandhaw, who was writing a letter, looked up to inquire:

"Is it ever permissible to apply gender to volcanoes?"

"I don't know," Mrs. Hemmandhaw returned, "but if it is they are surely masculine."

"Why?"

"Because they sputter, grumble and smoke."—Youngstown Telegram.

Setting the Standard.

Rankin—A German inventor claims to have evolved a mechanical man that is almost human. What do you think of that?"

Phyle—If he didn't do a better job on it than some "self-made men" do on themselves, he isn't much of an inventor.—Youngstown Telegram.

Never Himself Again.

The poor tramp and the young cook form a combination that has afforded material for joke writers the world over for generations.

Here's one that is like all the others, and yet just a little different.

"Are you the same man who ate my mince pie last week?" inquired the woman.

"No mum," mournfully responded the tramp; "th' doctor says I'll never be th' same man again!"—Lippincott's.

 training school at Muskingum college, New Concord, O., will be held July 31 to August 9.

Condition Improved.
 Ralph Allen, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen, who was seriously injured when struck by an auto is reported as improving nicely at the City Hospital.

Silent Circle Meeting.
 Silent Circle of the King's Daughters and Sons will meet in the home of Mrs. Theodore M. Ball, 29
 Clinton street, Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Did Big Business.
 The B. & O. railroad handled over 1000 people on the excursion trains that passed through the city Sunday.
 The trains were from Zanesville and Columbus to Sandusky, and from Columbus to Marietta, Parkersburg and Wheeling.

J. Stanley Brown.
 An Associated Press dispatch from St. Paul says, "after the women succeeded in defeating J. Stanley Brown of Joliet, Ill., for re-election to the board of trustees, Vice President Swain gave Mr. Brown a still greater field of activity by appointing him acting president of the National Educational Association in the absence of President Jordan who is touring Europe. He will virtually make arrangements for the 1915 convention in Oakland, California.

 Mr. Brown is well known here. He graduated from Denison University in 1891.

W. C. T. U. Meeting.
 The W. C. T. U. will meet at the First Presbyterian church on Tuesday afternoon, July 14, at 2:30 o'clock.

Condition Improved.
 Angel Dimitry, the 16-year-old boy who was struck by a train and seriously injured on Saturday, is reported as getting along very nicely at the Newark sanitarium. His condition is greatly improved today.

Cuts off Finger.
 Frank Morgan, a farmer living east of the city, caught his left hand in the pulley of a hay fork on Saturday while at work on his farm and the third finger of the hand was completely severed. Dr. H. H. Pos-tie dressed the injury.

Moved Shop.
 Orlando Nutter, who has been engaged in the plumbing business in North Fourth street has moved his shop to the room in the alley leading to the Arcade Annex, formerly occupied by the Bob Dold saloon.

Go to Portsmouth.
 Dr. and Mrs. P. H. Cosner, William Cosner and Miss Beatrice Kirk left on Sunday for Portsmouth, O., making the trip in the Cosner machine. They will attend the state convention of Odd Fellows which is being held in that city.

Board of Trade Election.

 the Christian Endeavor Society of the Central Church of Christ will be held at the home of Rev. and Mrs.
 W. D. Ward, 23 West Locust street,
 Tuesday evening at 7:45 o'clock.
 Every member is urged to be present. A cordial invitation is extended to all friends.

Report Not Verified.
 A report was current Saturday night and Sunday that Warren G.
 Harding, of Marion, O., Republican candidate for United States senator was here Saturday night to confer with G. O. P. leaders. A number of the more active local Republicans who were seen Monday were unable to verify the report, but seem to doubt that Harding would have ignored them on a visit of such import.

Attending Convention.
 Mr. George C. Vail, local agent for the National Cash Register company left for Dayton Sunday, where he will spend ten days attending the post graduate school at the National Cash Register factory. There are about 300 representatives of the company attending this school and convention and all are camping on the hills near President Patterson's home.

Doesn't Believe in Ghosts.
 A well-known business man who is an admirer of Colonel Roosevelt and has fond hope of seeing him again in the White House, met a Granville teacher in a Newark restaurant the other day and began the discussion of politics. "What do you think of Roosevelt?" was one of the questions. Quick as a flash came the answer: "I don't believe in ghosts."

Four Big Excursions.
 Four big excursions passed through Newark on Sunday over the
 B. & O. lines. Two came from West Virginia, one being from Wheeling to Columbus and had 315 passengers. The other was from Parkersburg to Columbus and had over 300 passengers. Other big excursions were run from Wheeling to Cedar point and from Columbus to Cedar point.

Sunday School Union.
 The Sixteenth Annual Sunday School Union will be held at Blarun, Ohio, in Frazier's Grove, on Saturday, August 15. Wayne B.
 Wheeler, of Columbus has been selected for the occasion and will deliver the address. Rev. A. B. Cox,
 Rev. Charles Laughlin and Rev. S.
 D. Kirkpatrick will also deliver addresses. Everything points to a gala occasion. Refreshments will be served on the grounds, and select music will be furnished by the Granville Band.

HUNDREDS VIEW
URN CONTAINING ANARCHIST'S ASHES

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]
 New York, July 13.—In a little court in the rear of the headquarters of the anarchists yesterday hundreds of persons viewed the urn, containing the ashes of three victims of the explosion on July 4, in a Lexington avenue tenement house. On Saturday last, the police refused to permit the urn to be exhibited at the Union Square memorial meeting.

The house was draped with streamers of black and crimson and watchers wore arm bands. Before leaving every one's attention was called to a collection box and asked to help raise funds to pay for the cremation of the three bodies.

A duplicate on a large scale of the urn, which is a pyramid in shape, is being planned as a memorial to all who died in the anarchists cause, according to friends of the explosion victims.

EARL OF ELLESMERE DEAD.
 London, July 13.—The Earl of Ellesmere died today at the age of 67. He succeeded his father to the title in 1862 and his heir is his eldest son, Viscount Brackley, who was born Nov. 14, 1872.

MEYER & LINDORF STORE ROOM TO BE REMODELED

At the completion of a monster clearance sale the Meyer & Lindorf store will be completely remodeled and a floor space exceeding 20,000 feet will be in readiness to receive the large fall lines of dry goods.

Mr. A. R. Lindorf, manager of the local store, has secured, Cooper & Pratt, contractors, to reconstruct the interior of the store. On the first floor the center walls will be torn out and many of the departments will be moved to the second floor.
 On that floor all partitions and walls will be taken out, and a new steel construction will be placed by Lane Bros. Mr. Lindorf said that in the new repairs, everything needed that can possibly be bought in Newark will be purchased here.

The carpet department will remain on the second floor and all the latest and most up-to-date equipment will be installed. A great many of the latest designs in counters, and elaborate show cases for fancy goods and other high grade materials will be purchased and placed in the store.

In the past the company has been greatly hampered through lack of floor space, and with the remodeling the Meyer & Lindorf store will be among the leading business houses in dry goods in the city for a clever, well equipped, up-to-date store.

A great amount of merchandise will have to be disposed of to make room for the workmen, and as soon as the present sale is over which it is thought will be about the first of August, the work on the remodeling will start.

CITY OFFICERS MOVING TODAY INTO NEW HOME

All of the city officers will be moved into the city building before Thursday. The decorating of the council chamber is practically completed, and it will be ready for the council meeting next Monday evening. Already the public service offices have been installed in their new quarters, and the offices of the mayor and clerk of the council were moved Monday. The offices of the city auditor will be moved Tuesday or Wednesday.

The offices in the city building are much more adequate for the transaction of official business as there is more room. In connection with the mayor's private office the outer room will be fitted with court fixtures for which there was no room
 in his office in the Trust building.

The rooms in the front of the building on the second floor which face Main street will be occupied by the auditor, the mayor's offices are behind the auditor's offices and face Fourth street. The office of the clerk of the council is the first door north of the mayor's office, and the council chamber is the room farthest north.

NEWARK DAY AT CEDAR POINT IS THURSDAY, 16th

Since the committee appointed by the Grocers' Association to call on the merchants around the square and adjacent, met with such a cordial reception and expression favorable to making Thursday, July 16,
 a real Newark Day at Cedar Point,
 we desire at this time to thank all of whom we met, and as our time is limited, to ask as a further favor which we stand ready to reciprocate, that we co-operate by closing for the entire day.

It is the first merchants' excursion out of the city, and we wish to make it a success.

Coming at this particular time because the State Grocers' convention is in session at Cedar Point, and other cities are giving excursions
 during the week, we chose Thursday for ours as it necessitates closing only an extra half day.

The big food show is alone worth the journey, and rate and hours are reasonable and seasonable, so "let's get together" and go.

Trusting this appeal may be accepted in the spirit in which it is proposed, the spirit of business fellowship we are,

Yours for better Newark,
 Newark Retail Grocers' and Meat
 Dealers' Association.

BILLY BAXTER

Old Minstrel Known All Over the World, Died Last Night at Chicago.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]
 Chicago, July 13.—Billy Baxter, old time minstrel who had played with nearly all the leading minstrel companies of America and who had appeared before the royalty of Europe with his band, died at a hospital here last night of cirrhosis of the liver. Born in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1861, he turned early to the stage
 where his musical talent soon won him a place among the stars of minstrelsy. He made several tours of the world, and on many occasions, rulers of Europe requested him to play and sing the old "darker" songs.
 A few years ago he retired from the stage and since then had made his home at the Press Club in this city.

"I never have any difficulty in collecting my bills," said the undertaker. "Your customers must be dead ealier," replied the mere man.

KNOX KNOWS FUNDAMENTALS OF BUSINESS

"Lecturer With a Punch" Is to Speak Here During Chautauqua.

"COMMUNITY BUILDING"

Is Special Feature to Be Discussed When He Appears Locally.

"The Verbal Volcano," "The Lecturer With a Punch," "The Greatest Epigrammatic Lecturer in America."

These and various other characterizations have been applied to J. S.
 Knox, one of half a dozen great business lecturers in the entire country.
 He is head of the Knox School of Salesmanship and Business Efficiency and has the reputation of saying more in the same length of time than any other man in America. He is to appear here on the last day of the Redpath Chautauqua, talking on "Community Building."

Mr. Knox has not confined all his time to the lecture platform and schoolroom. He is author of several textbooks on salesmanship and personal and business efficiency. His works are popular not only in the United States, but in Canada, Japan and other countries. He is an expert in his line.

The success of this lecturer is due largely to his knowledge of business conditions and business needs, and as a practical and inspirational lecturer
 he has few equals. His rapid fire epigrams never fail to entertain an audience profitably, and commercial clubs and other such organizations over the country are warm in their praise of his

J. S. KNOX.

work. Nothing pleases Mr. Knox better than to appear before a group of business men, and one of his chief aims is to present his ideas on "Community Building" in such a way that all classes will be benefited.

Two lecture tours on the Pacific coast, the second including 100 addresses, were made by Mr. Knox in 1913. He appeared in leading cities of the west and gave from two to four addresses a day for business and educational institutions. His epigrams are exceedingly striking and are quoted all over the country. He is a recognized authority on salesmanship, efficiency and leadership, and his own strong personality emphasizes his appeal for human nature in business.

Educational and Recreational.
 Huntington (W. Va.) Herald-Dispatch: "On with the Chautauqua! It is educational as well as recreational. It brings great things home to us to see which, otherwise, would require hundreds of miles of railway travel and entail an expense account that very few could afford."

Appeals to All Classes.
 Columbus (O.) Dispatch: "One of the striking features of the Chautauqua movement is the appeal to all classes of people. * * * These Chautauqua as-semblies are among the mightiest forces of popular information and diversion."

Chautauquas Always Welcome.
 Findlay (O.) Republican: "No criticism has been heard as to the merit of the attractions seen and heard in this city. The program was arranged to suit every taste. * * * The Redpath Chautauquas will be welcomed to Findlay in future years."

Chautauqua Popular.
 "Dyersburg (Tenn.) State Gazette:
 "We will all be sorry when it becomes necessary for them to fold their tents;
 but, unlike the Arabs, it will not be necessary for them to steal away."

Remarkable Success.
 Gary (Ind.) Post: "It is doubtful if any Chautauqua in any city ever had such overwhelming success during its first year as the Redpath Chautauqua had here last season."

Superb Group Will Crown Great Portal In Palace of Varied Industries at Panama-Pacific International Exposition

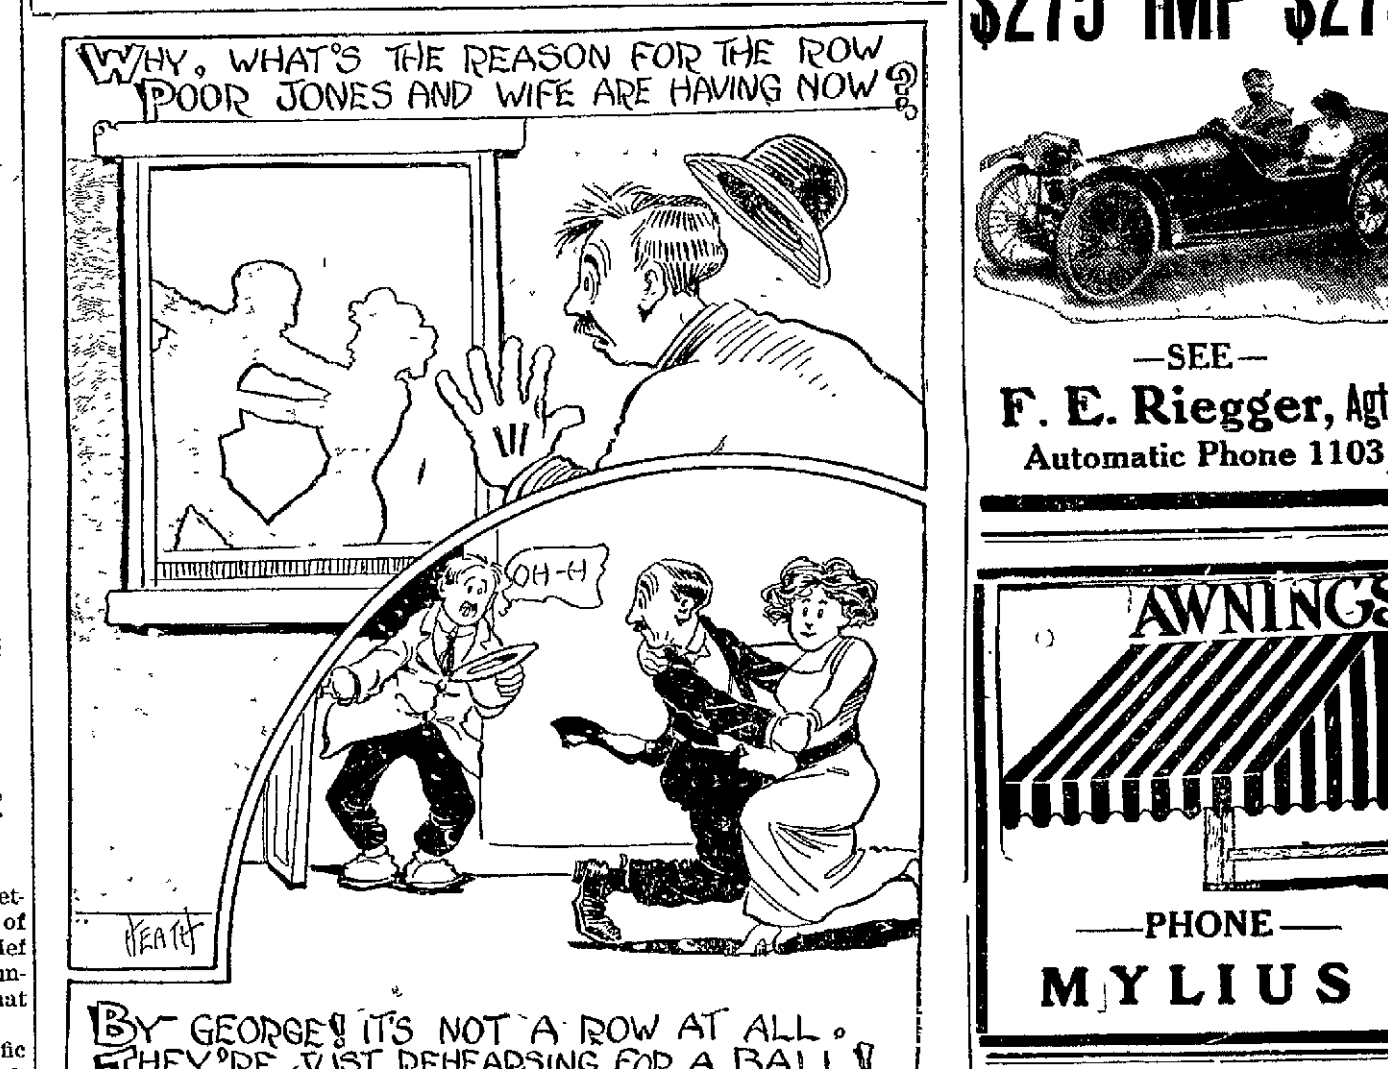

© 1914, by Panama-Pacific International Exposition Co. H. S. Crocker Co., official photographers.

THE tympanum shown in the above photograph will be set over the main door of the Palace of Varied Industries at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in San Francisco in 1915. The group is the work of Mr. Ralph Stackpole, one of the most brilliant of the younger sculptors who will make their impression upon a wider public during the Exposition.

This alto relief will be set within an embellishment which is one of the purest as well as the costliest architectural reproductions upon the Exposition grounds, this doorway being an exact replica of the portal of the Salamanca cathedral in Spain, reproduced at a cost of $15,000. The tympanum, which is original, is the only deviation from the portal copied.

Stackpole is a pupil of Mercie of Paris, but his work shows signs of the influence of Meunier. Like the great Belgian, he is fond of making truthful and sympathetic representations of the types who play their part in the great industrial epic of today. Before he became a sculptor Mr. Stackpole was a miner, and his work had attracted wide attention even before he went to Europe to study.

THE REASON WHY! By Heath.

TO OVERCOME SUNBURN, TAN, FRECKLES, WRINKLES.
 If your skin is unduly reddened, freckled or tanned, dab a liberal amount of mercolized wax on the face and allow it to remain over night. When you wash off the wax in the morning, fine flaky, almost invisible particles of cuticle come with it, leaving the skin smooth. The entire outer skin is absorbed, but so gradually there's not the slightest hurt or inconvenience. Even the stubbornest freckles are affected. The underlying skin which forms the new complexion is so fresh and youthful-looking, you'll marvel at the transformation. It's the only thing known to actually discard an aged, faded, muddy or blotchy complexion. One ounce of mercolized wax, procurable at any drug store, is sufficient in most cases.

If sun and winds make you squint and frown, you're bound to overcome these quickly, bathe the face in a solution made by dissolving an ounce of powdered salolite in a half pint with hazel.

The man who tries and fails is generally sneered at by the fellow who never tries.

Do not miss the Big Vaudeville Show at Orpheum tonight. d-1t

DON'TS FOR SUMMER

Don't fail to propose to the landlady's daughter if you expect good grub. Don't sit on the beach with a pretty girl by moon light. It's dangerous.

NOT MUCH.

HEAT RECORD ESTABLISHED FOR SEASON

Again, Sunday, Newarkites experienced the "hottest day in the season." It was reported the other day by an enthusiastic correspondent that in parts of Southeastern Ohio thermometers reached 112, then blew up. It wasn't quite that serious here, but the maximum of 104 in the shade was quite enough heat for the masses.

It was 80 degrees in the shade before 7 o'clock Sunday morning, and not a ripple of air stirred through the trees. There was one case of heat prostration reported.

Robert Rowe, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rowe, living four miles east of Newark, in Madison township apparently suffered from sunstroke as he was about to go bathing in a creek with his brothers and sisters.

The children screamed when they saw him fall, and his mother, believing the boy had been drowned, telephoned for Criss Bros.' motor ambulance. The boy was soon revived, however, and was able to walk to his home.

There was a good breeze Monday morning, and despite heavy clouds and occasional peep of sunshine caused the mercury to rise to 78 by 7 o'clock, with a proportionate increase through the forenoon. There was indication, however, that Sunday's record would not be reached during the day.

Heavy storm clouds to the south emitted rumblings of thunder and sent occasional cool breezes over Newark, holding out some hope of a rain that has been badly needed for many weeks.

Licking county's corn crop is said to have been "shot to pieces" by the drought, and farmers predict it will not yield one-half of the promised crop.

Old residents declare they never knew a good corn crop in 17-year-old year, no matter how good were the early season's prospects.

The Contest

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Matthews of Mt. Vernon, send the following letter which is highly appreciated. "We wish to thank the Advocate and all concerned in the recent Booklovers' contest for the privilege of a name prize No. 78. This prize we assure you will be to us, more useful than ornamental and will prove quite a factor in reducing the high cost of living in our home for a time at least. We really aimed higher than this but our fault was the same as that of a great many others 'eliminating' in our list of probable answers we had all of the correct ones except two, missing 'Leisure Hours with Nature' and 'Modern Man and Maid.' Can not see how we overlooked these as they are both better than any of our selections. We have been in a number of other contests of this nature but must say this one in the Advocate was conducted along lines that were fairer, with more courtesy shown to the contestants through the query column and with answers that ran truer to the pictures than all of the others combined. We receive an additional pleasure through this contest, not alone the thrill that comes to the heart by knowing that among thousands of others one has been lucky, but as we are former Newark people, we are privileged through the columns of the Advocate to keep in touch with events that occur daily among people that we know. This makes it seem, when the paper arrives, almost like getting a letter from home; again thanking you for the prize and wishing for the Advocate a bright and prosperous future. * * *

Mrs. Lillie Geiger of Hebron in acknowledging receipt of her contest prize, says "I have just received Prize No. 72. Brass Jardenerie on Pedestal, with Fern. It is very pretty and I wish to express my thanks for the same. I enjoyed the contest very much indeed. The work was fascinating to me, but I thought at one time that I would have to give it up as I was sick for several weeks, unable even to look at the pictures. My sister, Mrs. L. M. Beaver urged me to take up the 17 pictures I had received while sick, and get busy. I followed her advice with the result that I had 57 correct ones. I should have done better as I had all right on my probable answer list except 'Just One Taste,' 'Magic melody,' and 'Back to the Soil.' I also enjoyed the query column during the contest. It must have puzzled you on some occasions to know how to answer in such an impartial and pleasing way as you did. Thanking you again I remain yours with best wishes for The Advocate."

Readers' View Point

The Advocate assumes no responsibility for the opinions expressed in the column headed "Readers' View-point." Communications from our readers should be short, plainly written and should be signed though the signature will not be printed if it is so requested. These communications should be upon subjects in which there is general interest and they must be free from abuse or extravagant statements that tend to provoke controversy.

Ask Us Something Easy. Editor Advocate: I am old enough to remember the financial panic of 1857, which occurred during President Buchanan's administration, and I am old enough to remember the panic of 1873, which occurred during Grant's administration, and I am old enough to remember the panic of 1893—which he remembered occurred almost a year before the reduction of the tariff by the Cleve-

Remodeling Sale

Rebuilding, Expansion, July Clearance Sale

20,700 SQUARE FEET SELLING FLOOR SPACE

PLACES OUR $100,000.00 WORTH OF UP-TO-THE MINUTE SUMMER MERCHANDISE ON SALE AT JUST ABOUT $50,000.00.

Only a few weeks and then there will be a big force of workmen in the store tearing out many large partition walls in order that we may occupy the entire second floor above our present location, thereby increase our selling floor space up to 20,700 square feet.

Thus our $100,000.00 merchandise stock of up-to-the minute merchandise must necessarily be reduced to the very lowest possible point; therefore we must and have cut selling prices, in many instances, in half. For instance, Women's, Misses' and Children's wearing apparel of every description.

In order to make known throughout the City of Newark, Licking and surrounding counties, we have had printed, distributed and mailed, just 14,000 large four-page yellow circulars. These circulars, which are full newspaper size, contain 560 column inches of profitable reading news to every economically inclined shopper. These large circulars were printed on the large newspaper press, coming out all folded, just as your daily paper. Almost two large rolls of paper weighing just about a half ton, were used in the printing of these circulars.

These few pointers no doubt will give you some idea of what this great Remodeling, Rebuilding, Expansion July Clearance Sale means.

Again, remember, Saturday was the first day of this sale. It has just begun and will continue from day to day until stocks are reduced to the utmost lowest possible minimum.

This fact is absolutely always necessary during our Remodeling event.

MRS. MARY SWAN GETS PROMOTION FROM THE POSTAL

Former Newark Woman Has Been Prominent in Juvenile Court Work in Illinois.

Mrs. Mary A. Swan, former probation officer here and former Newark manager for the Postal Telegraph company, who has for the past four years been manager for the Postal at Freeport, Ill. left yesterday for Lafayette Ind., to accept a better position with the Postal company. The Freeport Journal-Standard says:

"The promotion of Mrs. Swan is a deserved one, for she has been both faithful and efficient in the discharge of her duties as manager for the Postal in Freeport, and by being commending to patrons she has made the business of the company she represented grow steadily ever since she came to Freeport. An expert telegrapher, she is a thorough business woman as well, and patrons of the Postal knew that any business entrusted to her would receive her careful and prompt attention."

Mrs. Swan, besides attending to her duties as manager for the Postal, has made a study of the child problem, one that she became interested in some years ago in Ohio, where she served as probation officer and did very effective work. She is a friend of the boys and girls and has waged untiringly a campaign to prevent the publication in newspapers of accounts of the offenses of children. She believes any minor, boy or girl, who violates the law, should be shielded wherever possible, no mention being made in the newspapers in regard to such offenses, and she also believes that the court records concerning such cases should be destroyed after a given time, providing the child shows he is truly contrite and determined to reform. Mrs. Swan has the endorsement of many of this country's most notable men and women in juvenile court work, including Judge Ben Lindsey of Denver."
